College bomb threats prompt campus evacuation

By Anusha Alagoli, Editor in Chief

Students streamed off university campuses in Texas, North Dakota, Ohio and Louisiana in the past week after a series of telephoned bomb threats prompted officials to warn students and faculty to get to safety.

Officials said the threats began at the University of Texas when a man claiming affiliation with al Qaida called in a threat on Friday. The caller claimed that bombs placed around campus would go off in 90 minutes.

But administrators waited more than an hour before evacuating the campus of 50,000 students.

North Dakota State University and Hiram College in northeast Ohio were also threatened on Friday. The bomb threat coincided with violent protests outside the U.S. embassies in the Middle East stirring extra tension among some students.

At the beginning of the Fall 2012 semester, UA-Huntsville was plagued by a wave of parking fines aimed specifically at students, faculty and staff.

The crackdown on parking has been mostly problematic for students unaware of the University's shift away from mail-in and automatic billing. The campus police sent out an email to all UAH email accounts explaining the change; many claim they did not receive it.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

Former UAH professor selected as Libyan prime minister

By Adam Henry, Staff Writer

Former UAH professor selected as Libyan prime minister

By AnnaLisa Davy更强, Staff Writer

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

Former UAH professor selected as Libyan prime minister

By Adam Henry, Staff Writer

Former UAH professor selected as Libyan prime minister

By AnnaLisa Davy更强, Staff Writer

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.

The September edition of Popular Science magazine includes a feature on the future of education.

The magazine featured 36 laboratories across the nation where students do serious research and career training by blowing stuff up. John B. Carnett said that the underreported enforcement measures, students say they are being fined for their tires touching the white lines and other unpublicized infractions.

The news of Libya's new prime minister came just hours after U.S. Ambassador Chris Stevens and three of his colleagues were reported dead outside the U.S. consulate on Benghazi, Libya. In a nation that saw murder almost on a daily basis, it is the first time a U.S. ambassador has been killed on-duty since 1979.

In a tweet sent out to his nearly 5,000 followers on Twitter, Dr. Abushagur -- without word of mention about his new position -- posted, "I condemn these barbaric acts in the strongest possible terms. This is an attack on America, Libya and free people everywhere." Since it was posted last Wednesday, the tweet has received nearly 250 retweets.

In an interview with Bloomberg News last week, Abushagur vowed to build new roads, help create a public transport system and review all high-end contracts over $109 billion signed under the corrupted Gaddafi regime.
Footpath to nowhere
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

In order to identify more violations, campus police Parked Charging Instructors Officers to expedite the issuing of citations, making many students with yellow decals feel like targets.
Police said they owe $100 dollars with 10 dol­ ers added after seven days of past due.
"Every student and employee must park in a motor vehicle on the campus must pay for the privilege," the police said within the segmented e-mail. "Definitely for parking spaces is too high to be tolerable of those who neglect to pay or refuse to pay." It is this admission, the neglect of infrastructure and absence of compassion that infuriates students. "I'm not going to walk across the street if I can help it. Please build an over­ pass," Graduate student Alexander said bringing back memories of Starh dome. One woman who was struck by a SUV while crossing a street near campus.

"The Shelby Center took away 16 spaces to make a foot path to nowhere," Annie Rael, a biology student, said referring to a newly created footpath that leads from the back of Madison Hall, cuts through the Shelby Center parking lot, to a steep grassy hill. "The Parking garage is always full and parking students have to park seven buildings away." She also pointed out that nursing students have to use the same footpath between the Nursing Building and the Springs Hill Parking lot. All this is expected to hit the market next month.
Admitted UAHvantage shooting, Amy Bishop and
Dr. Katherine Russell could receive royalties from the University for an invention that is expect­ ted to hit the market next month.
"That's why it's important for everyone to make sure the information we have in the system is correct and current. It's admisible to check this information now so you can be certain that any emergency messages will get to you via telephone, text message or email, whichever you choose," Chief Snellgrove gave a newly created footpath for use by InQ Biosciences.

Campus threat continues
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Considering the threats to college campuses, The Chargertimes Officers to let students know what precautions to take if anything to happen to the campus of UAHvantage.
Sports Editor
M. Dyer
Sports Editor
Staff Writers
Nicole Neely
Hannah DeLindru
Katie Carr
Leon Kennedy
Charlottesville
Kuo-An Nguyen
Elijah Allen
David Val
Michael House
Charles Taylor
Sarah Mc新常态
Christopher Howard
Andy Donovan
Jena Allman
Taylor Reed
Chad Chavez
Eliya Lopez
Antonia Sites
Jessica Lauten
Advertising Executive
Sara Cloud
Kim Bethell
Carol Kowalczyk

UAH Concert Choir
By Kelsey Harris. Staff Writer

In case you haven't done it yet, "Be Heard" is the slogan to live by. UAH's music department is home to many students. With a wide variety of classes there are numerous op­ opportunities for all kinds of talent. If you love music and want to "Be Heard" this is the place to be, particularly the concert choir.
During the fall semester, the choir is available for no, alto, tenor or bass, all students are welcome.
Regardless of your mater, there is a place for you. Currently the concert choir has a need for an additional

UAH Choir Concert
By Kelsey Harris. Staff Writer

Violence in Libya
By Nicolas Neely. Staff Writer

Money trail
By Antonio Pitts. Staff Writer

HUMIDOR PIPE LINES

2502 Memorial Parkway SW
Huntsville, AL 35801

Advertisement

Follow us for instant news!

www.chargertimes.org

Money trail
By Antonio Pitts. Staff Writer

InQ Concert
By Staff Writer

InQ biosciences, a company that has designed and created a new medication for Alzheimer's disorder, is set to have the first precise sales of a drug that could generates up to $50,000 per unit and will be delivered to a paying customer in late October.
The couple could position themselves near 70 percent of the royalties if the invention is commercialized. The couple was first U.S. ambassador in Libya, on Sept. 11,
resulting in the deaths of U.S. citizens.
If Bishop or Russell refuses to pay the $120
parking decal fee (10% earn $1200 a class and parking violations. Moore dsays the charge is not fair because the decal money trai
nhailed as a movie like 'Innocence

"So, in a nutshell UAH is spending money because the university is paying for measures, at least in my case," Morocco said, "UAH has a cash cow in the sales of decals and the police who give so many tickets now."
ICA Research

By Antonia Pitts, Staff Writer

On Sept. 28, 2012, 34 applications are in the police department located in the parking garage.

The IAC is the single largest meeting of aerospace professionals, representing government, academia and the private sector. The IAC offers exceptional opportunity for students to bring visibility to the advancements of Earth and Space Business and resulting paper/project. In 2010, students presented 17 papers, in 2011,16 students presented 12 papers in Prague, Czech Republic, and in 2012, students presented 17 papers in Cape Town, South Africa. The research has spanned a variety of topics covered a variety of topics ranging from Earth and Social Media for the Advancement of Earth and Space Business, as representatives for the department.

This is the third year that UAH has participated in the IAC student paper project. In 2010, 12 students presented papers in Prague, Czech Republic, and in 2011,12 students presented papers in Prague, Czech Republic, and in 2012, students presented 17 papers in Cape Town, South Africa. The research has spanned a variety of topics covered a variety of topics ranging from Earth and Social Media for the Advancement of Earth and Space Business, as representatives for the department.

Additionally, another member from the UAH Public Policy graduate student, Emma Fry, was selected by the IAC to be on a panel as part of a special recognition program for Generation Ventures for_USE of Social Media for the Advancement of Earth and Space Business, and Operations," which will be moderated by Bill Nye "the Science Guy.

This year the Honors Program has created a new program:

The Honors Ambassadors are "a group of five outstanding Honors students who will serve as representatives for the program." Beth Wilson, Honors advisor, said. They will also promote the Honors Program to prospective students, parents and high schools.

Like other clubs, the Honors Ambassadors will participate in many campus events and activities. Such events include Honors recruitment days, UAH open house, Honors student activities and freshmen orientation. They will also take part in Honors Convocation and the Alabama System Honors Research Conference in April. The Honors ambassadors will play an important role in increasing awareness of the Honors Program on and off campus.

Honors ambassadors alongside the honors of student council will work with other departments and colleges on campus to help show all the benefits of the Honors Program. Each ambassador brings a different experience and perspective to the program and was chosen on the basis of GPA, involvement in the program and a short interview with the Honors office.

The 2012-2013 Honors Ambassadors are Sydney Steele, Tomo Bluv Oh, Jennifer Blah, Taylor Bono and Kelsey Harris.

ZOMBIES and Mobile Phones - Get Involved!

October is National Cyber Security Awareness Month (NCASAM) and this year’s efforts is getting started early by asking students to participate in the October 4th is a great time for zombies and everyday mobile devices so what better theme than to mix Zombies and Mobile Phones with Cyber Security.

Don’t know what good mobile phone security entails?

• Always address permissions to your screen lock and lower your settings for timeouts.

• Don’t accept texts from people you don’t know.

• Make sure that your phones lock if your contact info or can be returned.

• Use a strong password.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (your phone).

• Spread the word: do not edit or change wipe your phone on the internet that has been compromised and that is used to perform malicious attacks under remote control.

• Be careful of what — even if a locked phone can test, email, and provide contact information.

• Do not accept anonymous requests for permissions like GIS, RFID, or Contacts.

• Keep apps up to date.

• Do not accept or download apps from unknown sources.

• Install an Antivirus/Malware app.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (rooting) your phone.

• Don’t accept an app’s request for permissions like GPS, Full Internet, or Contacts.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

• Apply your security updates.

• Don’t use apps from unknown sources.

• Install an Antivirus/Malware app.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (rooting) your phone.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

• Always add passcodes to your screen lock and lower your settings for timeout.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

By Dawn Carey, Staff Writer

During the first weeks of classes many students have been victim to tickets for moving or parking regulations, and the UAHuntville Police Department wants to make sure there are no rumors about anything related.

Many are speculating as to where the money goes from tickets and from departmental registration. Captain Bonna Marshall wants to set the facts and give us the facts to fight the fiction.

Some have speculated that registration fees go into the police department budget, "It goes into a fund that is used to repair roads, to purchase signage and if necessary write tickets during events on campus," Captain Marshall, said. She also said that fines from tickets go to the same place. Fund for the department actually comes from the State of Alabama Appropriation.

Another speculation many have heard is that there are quotas for ticketing. "There is no quota system in effect in the department. The staff has been instructed to write tickets in order to gain compliance with the parking rules," Captain Marshall. She said. Even if you are not in a college to help show all the benefits of the Honors Program. Each ambassador brings a different experience and perspective to the program and was chosen on the basis of GPA, involvement in the program and a short interview with the Honors office.

The 2012-2013 Honors Ambassadors are Sydney Steele, Tomo Bluv Oh, Jennifer Blah, Taylor Bono and Kelsey Harris.

ZOMBIES and Mobile Phones - Get Involved!

October is National Cyber Security Awareness Month (NCASAM) and this year’s efforts is getting started early by asking students to participate in the October 4th is a great time for zombies and everyday mobile devices so what better theme than to mix Zombies and Mobile Phones with Cyber Security.

Don’t know what good mobile phone security entails?

• Always address permissions to your screen lock and lower your settings for timeouts.

• Don’t accept texts from people you don’t know.

• Make sure that your phones lock if your contact info or can be returned.

• Use a strong password.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (your phone).

• Spread the word: do not edit or change wipe your phone on the internet that has been compromised and that is used to perform malicious attacks under remote control.

• Be careful of what — even if a locked phone can test, email, and provide contact information.

• Do not accept anonymous requests for permissions like GIS, RFID, or Contacts.

• Keep apps up to date.

• Do not accept or download apps from unknown sources.

• Install an Antivirus/Malware app.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (rooting) your phone.

• Don’t accept an app’s request for permissions like GPS, Full Internet, or Contacts.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.

• Apply your security updates.

• Don’t use apps from unknown sources.

• Install an Antivirus/Malware app.

• Avoid Jail Breaking (rooting) your phone.

• Be wary of public WiFi and turn it off when you aren’t using to avoid automatically connecting to a rogue access point.
Saison du Rum - First on the list is this beautiful Saison style farmhouse ale, traditionally brewed during winter and served during the summer. This one, however, is aged in rum barrels and has an ABV of 8.25 percent. One can taste the residual flavor from the barrels in this beer more than anything else, even Blander and Unobtainium. The run really adds a lot to this already complicated style of brew. It is mildly sweet with notes of fruit and a very mild presence of other balanced flavors from the yeast and malt. This one is a home run for beer lovers.

Hell or Rye Water - Hell or Rye is a Yale pale ale with an ABV of 6.5 percent.

Lily Flagg Milk Stout - This is a straight-up Saison style brew, and it is the most popular regular from Straight to Ale's taproom. Brother Joseph is a Belgian Dubbel style ale. This is a classic representation of a complex, delicious Belgian ale. It is dark, rich, and sweet; it has notes of fruit from the malt and is not very hoppy. Traditional abbey yeasts, Belgian candy sugars and an ABV of 8.0 percent makes this a keen choice when one is lucky enough to be surrounded by a plethora of beer decisions.

The Words - is the story of Roy James, a writer in search of a publisher, a break and an identity. When in Frenos, Janes, played by Bradley Cooper, stumbles across an old manuscript and decides to publish it. He then gradually realizes that there is more to the story than he thought.

The Words was a brilliant piece of film. The story told was overly predictable and those twists were not very creative. The film was about the making of a novel, but overall it was nicely done. The double parts were mostly due to the movie being told in multiple parts. One part of the film centered around James's coming of age. And the other part centered around another character only known as the Old Man. It's a tragic tale about the Old Man. What put together the two parts helped the film tell a complete story. Without the multiple parts the premise of the movie would have taken less than thirty minutes.

The cast was decent. In addition to Bradley Cooper, the movie starred Dennis Quaid, Zoe Saldana, Jeremy Irons and Ben Barnes. Bradley Cooper's role was perfect for his transition into a more dramatic film.

Oktoberfest is of course the "Oktoberfest," also called an Oktoberfest Marzen. If you were not already aware that Oktoberfest is in fact a September/October. The main beer of choice at Huntsville's festival was an Oktoberfest Marzen brewed by Paulaner, a brewery established in Munich, Germany in the 17th century. It has a rich color with a smooth and refined flavor, yielding just a hint of sweetness from the traditional grains and malt. Despite the color it is also quite clear, and the alcohol content is only slightly above your average American lager, with an ABV of 6.0 percent. With an optional serving size of one liter in a hefty glass mug and a price cut on refills, consuming large quantities was more than welcome for this tasty German treat!

Oktoberfest Review - "Oktoberfest" by David Vail, Staff Writer

Well, it's September and you know what that means; it's time for Oktoberfest. Every year Redstone Arsenal hosts one of the world's most beloved holidays. It is so cherished that the Germans could not keep it within their borders, not for lack of trying. If you do not know what Oktoberfest is, quite simply, it's a celebration of beer. There are all kinds of foods including traditional German cuisine: bratwurst, schnitzel, sauerkraut, potatoes and more. After you have had your fill of beer and brats, you can ride the rides, some of which spin you around really fast, and if you manage not to throw up your dinner you can then do it all over again. Much more could be said about the tasty food and carnival rides, but let's move on to the important stuff: the beer review.

Oktoberfest is of course the "Oktoberfest," also called an Oktoberfest Marzen. If you were not already aware that Oktoberfest is actually its own style of beer, you know now. The Oktoberfest was traditionally brewed in March, hence the name Märzen, it was kept cool during spring and summer months and then consumed joyously around September/October. The main beer of choice at Huntsville's festival was an Oktoberfest Marzen brewed by Paulaner, a brewery established in Munich, Germany in the 17th century. It has a rich color with a smooth and refined flavor, yielding just a hint of sweetness from the traditional grains and malt. Despite the color it is also quite clear, and the alcohol content is only slightly above your average American lager, with an ABV of 6.0 percent. With an optional serving size of one liter in a hefty glass mug and a price cut on refills, consuming large quantities was more than welcome for this tasty German treat!
The University of Alabama in Huntsville men and women's cross country teams finished strong on Saturday, as they ran in the 2012 NCAA Pre-Nationals race in Missouri. The Chargers were led by sophomore Blaise Rimes running a 25:44.96, earning him a 15th place finish in the 8K race in Missouri. The cross country team is looking forward to the NCAA Championship. The cross country team is looking forward to the NCAA Championship. The cross country team is looking forward to the NCAA Championship.

The Chargers will be back on the trail in two weeks when they run at the Greater Louisville Classic on Sept 29.

Week 3 College Football Rundown

No Doubt - There is no doubt in anyone's mind that the best team in the country is Alabama. With the 9-0 record against Arkansas, the Crimson Tide's defense left the Razorbacks scoreless at home for the first time since 1998. Alabama forced 3 turnovers in the matchup and continues to pull away from every team in the NCAA. If the Tide wants to continue their perfect season, they need to make sure they don't give away any victories.

5. Tennessee vs. LSU - The Volunteers have been in slumps the past couple of years and are looking to prove to the nation that they are ready to be taken seriously. Tennessee has a promising 2-0 start, but they need to prove they can win against a top team.

6. Florida vs. Alabama - The Gators and Crimson Tide are two of the best teams in the nation and are looking to prove they are the best teams in the nation. Both teams have been impressive so far, and it will be interesting to see which team emerges as the top team in the SEC West.

Week 2 in the NFL came with some shocking results by major teams.

The biggest upset came from the Kevin Kolb led Arizona Cardinals who defeated the New England Patriots 20-18. Another major upset came from the Carolina Panthers who beat the New Orleans Saints 35-27.

The New York Giants also had a rough first half, but ended up beating the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 41-34.

The Green Bay Packers came back this week refreshed and defeated their rivals, the Chicago Bears, 25-20 after their rough first week.

The Kansas City Chiefs continued to fail and fell victim to the run-heavy Buffalo Bills, 17-10.

Andrew Luck got his first win as the Indianapolis Colts starting quarterback, defeating the Minnesota Vikings 29-20.

Richardson continued to impress but did not do enough to put the Cleveland Browns on top of the Cincinnati Bengals who won 34-27.

One team that really impressed was the San Diego Chargers. They charged through the Tennessee Titans 38-10.

In the battle of the Terps, Reggie Bush led the Miami Dolphins to come up on top of the Oakland Raiders 36-10, only to prove the Raiders continue to be truly terrible.

The running back duo from Houston Texas, Arian Foster and Ben Tate, trampled the Jacksonville Jaguars to lead the Texans to a 27-7 win.

When it comes to pro sports in 2011, the word to know was lockout.

After negotiations failed, the NFL will be entering a lockout this week. Both the league and the players' union swapped proposals on Wednesday with neither side giving in the negotiations. NFL commissioner, Gary Bettman, has been adamant that he will not lock the players out if an agreement could not be reached by the beginning of training camp. Contracts are scheduled to open this week, but an impasse has reached leaving a lockout inevitable.

This is the fourth work stoppage that the NFL has undergone since 1992. The last lockout wiped out an entire season during 2004-05.

In the pros, it is all about the player. How many awards has this player won, how many championships has this player won, how much money does this player make? College is all about the team and what the team does-year-to-year.

"When it comes to the pros, you pick a player," says Robert Williams, a die-hard Auburn fan, "I'd definitely go with a quarterback." Williams likes the look of Auburn's Jordan Jefferson who won the SEC Offensive Player of the Year award in 2010.

Despite their struggles, Auburn fans are optimistic that their team can make a run in the SEC.

The rivalries met in Knoxville in an SEC showdown as the No. 2 Volunteers hosted the No. 18 Florida Gators. Both teams have been in slumps the past couple of years and both teams were eager to get back in the spotlight.

The Washington Redskins hosted the St.Louis Rams team 31-28.

The New York Jets did not seem to get off the field in time as they lost to the Seattle Seahawks who defeated the Steelers a win, 27-10.

The Dallas Cowboys have been in slumps and down with a loss to the Seattle Seahawks led by rookie Russell Wilson, 27-19.

Lastly, the San Francisco 49ers decided to continue their dominance and struck gold again against the injury-struck Detroit Lions, 27-19.

NHL Lockout

When it comes to pro sports in 2011, the word to know was lockout.

After negotiations failed, the NFL will be entering a lockout this week. Both the league and the players' union swapped proposals on Wednesday with neither side giving in the negotiations. NFL commissioner, Gary Bettman, has been adamant that he will not lock the players out if an agreement could not be reached by the beginning of training camp. Contracts are scheduled to open this week, but an impasse has reached leaving a lockout inevitable.

This is the fourth work stoppage that the NFL has undergone since 1992. The last lockout wiped out an entire season during 2004-05.

In the pros, it is all about the player. How many awards has this player won, how many championships has this player won, how much money does this player make? College is all about the team and what the team does-year-to-year.

"When it comes to the pros, you pick a player," says Robert Williams, a die-hard Auburn fan, "I'd definitely go with a quarterback." Williams likes the look of Auburn's Jordan Jefferson who won the SEC Offensive Player of the Year award in 2010.

Despite their struggles, Auburn fans are optimistic that their team can make a run in the SEC.

The rivalries met in Knoxville in an SEC showdown as the No. 2 Volunteers hosted the No. 18 Florida Gators. Both teams have been in slumps the past couple of years and both teams were eager to get back in the spotlight.

The Washington Redskins hosted the St.Louis Rams team 31-28.

The New York Jets did not seem to get off the field in time as they lost to the Seattle Seahawks who defeated the Steelers a win, 27-10.

The Dallas Cowboys have been in slumps and down with a loss to the Seattle Seahawks led by rookie Russell Wilson, 27-19.

Lastly, the San Francisco 49ers decided to continue their dominance and struck gold again against the injury-struck Detroit Lions, 27-19.

NHL Lockout

When it comes to pro sports in 2011, the word to know was lockout.

After negotiations failed, the NFL will be entering a lockout this week. Both the league and the players' union swapped proposals on Wednesday with neither side giving in the negotiations. NFL commissioner, Gary Bettman, has been adamant that he will not lock the players out if an agreement could not be reached by the beginning of training camp. Contracts are scheduled to open this week, but an impasse has reached leaving a lockout inevitable.

This is the fourth work stoppage that the NFL has undergone since 1992. The last lockout wiped out an entire season during 2004-05.

In the pros, it is all about the player. How many awards has this player won, how many championships has this player won, how much money does this player make? College is all about the team and what the team does-year-to-year.

"When it comes to the pros, you pick a player," says Robert Williams, a die-hard Auburn fan, "I'd definitely go with a quarterback." Williams likes the look of Auburn's Jordan Jefferson who won the SEC Offensive Player of the Year award in 2010.

Despite their struggles, Auburn fans are optimistic that their team can make a run in the SEC.

The rivalries met in Knoxville in an SEC showdown as the No. 2 Volunteers hosted the No. 18 Florida Gators. Both teams have been in slumps the past couple of years and both teams were eager to get back in the spotlight.

The Washington Redskins hosted the St.Louis Rams team 31-28.

The New York Jets did not seem to get off the field in time as they lost to the Seattle Seahawks who defeated the Steelers a win, 27-10.

The Dallas Cowboys have been in slumps and down with a loss to the Seattle Seahawks led by rookie Russell Wilson, 27-19.

Lastly, the San Francisco 49ers decided to continue their dominance and struck gold again against the injury-struck Detroit Lions, 27-19.

NHL Lockout

When it comes to pro sports in 2011, the word to know was lockout.

After negotiations failed, the NFL will be entering a lockout this week. Both the league and the players' union swapped proposals on Wednesday with neither side giving in the negotiations. NFL commissioner, Gary Bettman, has been adamant that he will not lock the players out if an agreement could not be reached by the beginning of training camp. Contracts are scheduled to open this week, but an impasse has reached leaving a lockout inevitable.

This is the fourth work stoppage that the NFL has undergone since 1992. The last lockout wiped out an entire season during 2004-05.

In the pros, it is all about the player. How many awards has this player won, how many championships has this player won, how much money does this player make? College is all about the team and what the team does-year-to-year.

"When it comes to the pros, you pick a player," says Robert Williams, a die-hard Auburn fan, "I'd definitely go with a quarterback." Williams likes the look of Auburn's Jordan Jefferson who won the SEC Offensive Player of the Year award in 2010.

Despite their struggles, Auburn fans are optimistic that their team can make a run in the SEC.

The rivalries met in Knoxville in an SEC showdown as the No. 2 Volunteers hosted the No. 18 Florida Gators. Both teams have been in slumps the past couple of years and both teams were eager to get back in the spotlight.
The University of Alabama-Huntsville Men's Basketball team will make history this November as they become the first Division II team to compete in the 2012 NCAA NIT Season Tip-Off.

This opportunity comes on the heels of the Chargers' most successful NCAA tournament run in school history. The team has reached the quarterfinals of each site advancing throughout the season.

"The nationwide exposure that our University and basketball program will receive is invaluable," Head Coach Lennie Acuff said. "I am confident our team will improve because of the caliber of competition," Acuff said.

The Chargers will travel to Kansas State University on Nov. 13 to take on the defending Sunbelt Conference Champions, North Texas University.

The Chargers three sets to zero.

The Lady Chargers had to bounce back at West Florida on Sunday, however, the Argonauts were too much for the Chargers to handle. West Florida, the No. 1 ranked team in the conference according to the pre-season coaches poll, swept the Chargers three sets to zero.

The loss puts the Chargers at 0-2 to start conference play and back to .500 for the Lady Chargers as she led the team with eight kills.

Coach Laura Tyrk and her squad return to the friendly confines of Sprague Hall next weekend as they search for their first conference win. They will take on the University of West Alabama at 6 p.m. and Stillman College on Tuesday at 6 p.m.

"The game kicks off at 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 23," Head Coach Laura Tyrk said.

The game will improve because of the caliber of competition," Acuff said.

The Chargers will face a Patriots defense, even though they are without pre-bowl linebacker Terrell Suggs.

Flacco on the other hand will face a Patriots defense that ranked No. 31 last year overall. The defense has improved with the addition of rookies Chandler Jones and Don'ta Hightower from Syracuse and Alabama, respectively.

The game kicks off at 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 23.
Republican View
By Caleb Duke, Columinst

President Obama's attempts at military might in foreign affairs have left much of the world upward of America's stance on important issues. Diplomacy, with our closest ally in the Middle East, Israel, is currently unattainable, while Iran is advancing its capabilities of obtaining modern weapons. During his 2008 campaign, he promised to secure tough diplomacy to prevent Iran from obtaining weapons while simultaneously curbing Russian aggression. Instead, the President has promised more flexibility in nuclear negotiations, allowing the election to continue and have stood silently by as our allies ask for a strong stance and stricter sanctions on Iran. The Government Accountability Institute also noted that President Obama only attends roughly 20% of national security intelligence briefings. The president's disengagement in the war in Afghanistan has weakened the global image of America's foreign policy strength. Much of the world feels as though this has weakened the country's foreign policy strength.

Parking: This is an outrage
By Unkeshai Green, Columnist

Since the start of the 2012 fall semester students have been caught off guard by the new parking procedures put in place by UAH's Parking Services. Students are caught between the rock and a hard place when attempting to get to classes on time, with some students witnessing tickets being written for minor infractions. Many feel as though they have paid for the university services and should not be made to park at a disadvantage.

Parking: This is an outrage
by Unkeshai Green, Columnist

As the end of the semester approaches, students are left wondering if they should even try to register for the upcoming general election. With recent events, such as the tragic shooting at the Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Connecticut, it is important for students to register to vote and make their voices heard. This year marks the first day of registration for the upcoming election.

National general election
Nov. 4

The national general election will be held today to elect the United States Congress, senators, governors, and both the presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Be sure to register to vote!

Democrats View
By Chad Chavez, Columnist

Upon coming into office in January of 2009, President Obama made a promise to end the war in Afghanistan, and dismantle their lead­ers. President Obama made a promise to end the war in Afghanistan, and dismantle their leaders. His promise was to remove our troops from the country once he was elected. His promise was to remove our troops from the country once he was elected. He also vowed to start the process of bringing our troops home. He also vowed to start the process of bringing our troops home. However, the process has been extremely slow and the troops continue to fight al-Qaeda and other insurgent groups in the region.

Liberation View
By Goge Smythe, Guest Columnist

Afghanistan, the president has committed to removing American forces from the region by 2014. This is 2 million young American men off to service. As we emerge from over a decade at war, we will see our families, friends and communities returning home. And President Obama has committed to uphold­ing our promises to honor their service. From the cre­ation of tax credits to hire veterans to training veterans to the extension of the GI Bill to provide more than 800,000 veterans and their fami­lies to join our nation's cam­puses and pursue education, the President wants us to make sure our vets are thanked in actions as well as words.

With no global challenge of the 21st century that involves stopping the spread of nuclear weapons to threaten our security, President Obama and President George W. Bush stand together as powerful advocates of the American foreign policy. President Obama and President George W. Bush stand together as powerful advocates of the American foreign policy.
Marketplace

Electronics

- Brand New iPod!
  - Bluetooth enabled
  - Works flawlessly with Mac
- Sony Alpha 350 DSLR
  - 12 megapixel CMOS sensor
  - 1080p Full HD video
  - Ideal for photography
  - Includes instruction manual

Gaming

- MetroGnome C "Big Box Deal"
  - Includes "Super Mario Bros"
  - Gamer's dream
- "Drake: The Game"
  - Action-packed
  - Complete with storyline

Announcements

- Congratulations to the Senators baseball team!
  - Winning streak continues

Jobs

- Psychology Research
  - The Social Engineering and Interaction Lab is looking for students to participate in a research study.
  - Eligibility requires that the participant is an English major and is not a psychology major.

How do I place a Marketplace ad?

- Email at: Classified@uah.edu

Photo Editor

- The Charger Times is looking for a Photo Editor. Please submit a portfolio of work for consideration. E-mail photos and contact info to: PhotoEditor@uah.edu

EASY PUZZLE

- Presented by ACE

- Congrats to Hallie Grimes, who won the drawing for a $25 Visagift card! Email us to pick up your prize! Check next issue for another chance to win!

[Crossword puzzle]

EVENT CALENDAR

Thursday, 9/20

- 5 Days to Fight 11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. @ UC Lobby
  - Culinary Chem Webinar 12:30-2:30 p.m. @ SC 301
  - WSOC vs Shorter 2-4 p.m. @ Charger Park Complex
  - MSOC vs Shorter 4:30-6:30 p.m. @ Charger Park Complex

- Extra Extra Read All About It: 32nd Chapter Anniversary 6:13-9:13 p.m. @ SC 301

Friday, 9/21

- 5 Days to Fight 11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. @ UC Lobby
  - Taco Salad and Chili Meeting 1-2:30 p.m. @ TH N125
  - Medical Careers Club First General Body Meeting 11-2:30 p.m. @ SC 109
  - Lacrosse: Learn to Play 3-5 p.m. @ CV Courtyard

Saturday, 9/22

- 5 Days to Fight 11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. @ UC Lobby
  - UAH ACE White Water Rafting Trip 12-5 p.m. @ Wildwater Pigeon Adventure Center
  - VB vs West Alabama 1-3 p.m. @ Spragins Hall

- Easy Puzzle 9,220,069,085

Sunday, 9/23

- International Festival Week, Sept. 24 - 29, 2012
  - Lunch & Lecture 11 a.m.-1 p.m. @ BAB 229
  - Salsa Club 7-9 p.m. @ UC Exhibit Hall A

Monday, 9/24

- International Festival Week, Sept. 24 - 29, 2012
  - Lunch & Lecture 11 a.m.-1 p.m. @ BAB 229

- National Disability Employment Awareness Week 5:30-6:30 p.m. @ Charger Village MPR

Tuesday, 9/25

- International Festival Week, Sept. 24 - 29, 2012
  - Lunch & Lecture 11 a.m.-1 p.m. @ BAB 229

- SYE College Presentation: Engineering 5:30-6:30 p.m. @ Charger Village MPR

- VB vs Stillman 6-7 p.m. @ Spragins Hall

- Dr. Judy McFarlane Lecture - Violence Against Women: Addressing Global Health Issues and Evidence-Based Practice for Policy Development 7-8:30 p.m. @ Chan Auditorium

Wednesday, 9/26

- International Festival Week, Sept. 24 - 29, 2012
  - Lunch & Lecture 11 a.m.-1 p.m. @ BAB 229

- SYE College Presentation: Nursing 5:30-6:30 p.m. @ Charger Village MPR

- Study Abroad & Foreign Language 2-5 p.m. @ Library Hall

See you guys next week!