Israels Blamed for Palestinian Massacre

By: KAREN MIDDLETON
exponent staff writer

Editor's Note: The following is an editorial, not a news article. However, due to the magnitude of the issue involved, we have decided to place it on our front page, instead of inside the paper.

Once again on so many lips, "Will the senseless killing ever stop?" How many times have we heard it? How many times have we heard the cries of anguish, anger and all of the emotions that inspire it. And now, hundreds murdered in Lebanon; hundreds of corpses right and left, bodies lying in pools of blood, victims of the violence that is Israel.

The United States is supposed to be responsible for Israel, even as a parent is responsible for his errant child. In predictable sequence, when the child is confronted with this deed, he blames a sibling, in this instance, the Lebanese Christian Phalangists.

The U.S. claims Israel tries to participate in the killing of refugee civilians. Other nations claim Israel allowed it to happen by not controlling their Lebanese Christian militia allies. The Israeli government denies both active participation or knowledge of the Palestinian massacre while it was in progress. In a Cabinet statement,开战, the government declared, "No one can exonerate us of all responsibility for this bloodshed in Lebanon."

In their opinion, we are guilty of the same crime, the same sin. The United States is supposed to be responsible for Israel, even as a parent is responsible for his errant child. In predictable sequence, when the child is confronted with this deed, he blames a sibling, in this instance, the Lebanese Christian Phalangists.

Theft on UAH Campus

By: VIRGINIA LETSON
exponent staff writer

Thieves made off with a pair of $800 speakers from a car parked on the UAH campus recently. The parking lot worker had chiseled a hole in the right front door of Byron Bonds' car and taken entry to it. According to Bonds, the theft occurred when the car was parked in the lot, near the time of the 11 a.m. break.

Damage to the car totaled $600, including the price of the speakers, car repair, a wallet and other miscellaneous items from the car. The teller compartment was recovered by two joggers the following day, however,

According to Bonds, it is theorized that the thieves used steel cutters to make a hole in the car door, and then entered the car. The thieves took a pair of speakers, a wallet and other miscellaneous items from the car. The teller compartment was recovered by two joggers the following day, however.

Trustees Authorize UAH Housing Loan

To the students of UAH:

This article is the first of a monthly series of articles intended to help keep you informed about the actions of the Board of Trustees of the University of Alabama which are pertinent to UAH. In a meeting at the Governor's Office prior to the August meeting of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Thomas A. Bartlett was installed as Chancellor of the University of Alabama System. The Trustees took action during their August meeting, on UAH issues by approving the following:

1) A resolution establishing a scholarship to honor Dr. Francis C. Scott. The resolution noted Dr. Scott's 29 years of dedicated service and credited him with the establishment of the Academic Advisement Center at UAH.

2) A resolution approving Articles of Incorporation for the Alabama Engineering Foundation, Inc., a support foundation at the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

3) A resolution authorizing the execution of a ground lease of 8 acres of property in Huntsville Industrial Park to AVCO Corporation.

4) A resolution authorizing a ground lease between UAH and Harold Echew for 8.67 acres in Huntsville Research Park.

The Trustees took action during their September meeting on issues pertinent to UAH by approving the following:

1) A resolution authorizing UAH to borrow $364,000 for furnishings and other costs not eligible to be covered by the previously approved federal loan for University Housing Phase III.

2) A resolution making recently-approved fee increases for students of the University of Alabama School of Medicine applicable to students of the UA College of Community Health Sciences and the UAH School of Primary Medical Care.

3) A resolution noting the retirement of and expressing appreciation to Charles Graham Hill, Superintendent of Grounds, at the University of Alabama in Huntsville for 16 years of dedicated, noted, and productive service.

Also at the September board meeting, a presentation on Financial Aid was made by representatives of the three campuses in the University of Alabama System. Unusual action is taken to increase the level of state support for the Financial Aid Programs, the number of recipients of Financial Aid will be decreased by the Federal Financial Aid Cuts. According to the presentation, it is due to the extremely low level of support and priority placed on Financial Aid by the State of Alabama. Our state ranks 40th out of the 50 states in the amount of financial aid inappropriately per capita.

Note the following: Alabama 114; Mississippi 26; Tennessee $150, South Carolina $4.52.

If you have any questions or comments about the University of Alabama Board of Trustees, please leave a message for me at the SOA Office, UUB 212, or call 895-6428. Until next month best of luck with your studies.

Respectfully submitted by James Steele, UAH Student Representative to The Board of Trustees of The University of Alabama

Letters to the Editor

Wallace—Again???

I was shocked last Tuesday after Sinclair Lewis, Wallace had been elected as nominee for the Democratic gubernatorial race. Actually, I had a feeling that, although a close race, he would be nominated...but why?

Obviously, most of the citizens don't remember him. Some, in fact, may have just voted for him because they remember his name. After hearing Wallace speak recently, I thought that if more people had heard him speak, they would be able to see through his speeches. What appalled me the most is when, in response to a question from Swedes, journalist he said, "I've always loved blacks." This statement seems quite hypocritical to me after he acted so much against black civil rights in the 1960's.

When Wallace was governor, he may have done a few good things for Alabama. Now, however, if Wallace comes back into office his old ideas and programs (the ones he did not finish) do not readily apply to the progress this state has seen.

If Wallace is elected governor, it will be an embarrassment to the state of Alabama...it will push us backwards instead of forwards. Indeed, if Wallace is elected governor, Alabamians will look back at the Fob James administration as the "good 'ol days.

Health Care To Be Offered On Campus

By VIRGINIA LESTON
assignment staff writer

Limited health care services, available on campus, may soon become a reality for UAH students, according to Dr. Jeannie Fisher, Vice-President for Student Affairs. Health care on a walk-in basis is one possibility being considered. A nurse would be available to administer first-aid for cuts, headaches, colds and flu. A physician from the Ambulatory Care Center would, perhaps, be available for consultation. It might also be possible that interns would be available by appointment.

The exponent conducted a public opinion poll to see how students felt about the need for an on-campus health service and came up with the following reactions:

Freshman Beth Finley says, "I think a health center would benefit UAH students.

Tom Hantherne, another freshman, thinks it would be convenient. "I think it’s a good idea."

Senior Jeanne Finley says, "The health program would be a benefit to out-of-town students in having a doctor on or near campus. It would be more convenient than having to look for a doctor."

Senior Bill Minyard also thinks it would be a good idea.

David Edgeman says, "The size of the campus would warrant the service. Enough people live on campus to make it beneficial."

Shawn Denseford, a freshman, says, "Broken-bones are something you don’t expect. Also, having a place to get aspirin would be convenient."

Molly Gremmel, Director of the SGA’s Cabaret Series, says, "I think it would be good if there was an ambulance on call. The service should be available whether used or not. I think an RN would be sufficient at the service center and a doctor on call. Physical help now, but they are aware student health files would be helpful in emergencies."

Sean Kirkpatrick, SGA Film & Art Director, says, "I think it would be nice if there was some place in the Nurses’ Building for emergency medical attention. Diabetics would benefit if a special need is made of it."

Bob Kill, President of the UAH Amateur Radio Association, says, "I think it should be in the on-campus dorms. We need some place to go for attention for basic medical care or for something serious. I think a warrant calling an ambulance. Sport camps and visitors would also benefit."

Robin Morgan, who is on the Student Services Committee on the SGA, says, "I don’t want to drive clear across town in an emergency situation."

Mark Chandler, director of Student Services, has this to say: "I feel that with the growing on-campus student population, an infirmary is needed due to any unforeseen emergency that may arise. It could also be a great asset to those students who commute. If UAH is to continue to grow in a positive way, a service of this type is most definitely needed."

"There are places to go to get help now, but they are not on campus. Any UAH student, faculty, or staff member may become a part of the UAH Family Practice Center by contacting the UAH Ambulatory Care Center at 201 Governors Drive to complete the intake forms. It is wise to call the center for medical care to insure expedient care. All UAH students are required to have valid UAH identification cards. This service is not free, however, patients pay on a fee-for-service basis. If student is without funds in an emergency situation, he will not be turned away, according to Thelma Haas, Coordinator for Communications at the Ambulatory Care Center.

The services at the Ambulatory Care Center are:

- Outpatient care, home visits (when indicated), family planning, nutrition education, patient education, minor surgical and lab work are all part of the service. Consultations and referrals to specialists are also provided, if needed.

Another health service available to students, faculty and staff is the Huntsville-Madison County Mental Health Center. This service is available to all Huntsville-Madison County residents, and fees are charged on a sliding fee scale. You pay what you can afford, according to your salary.

There are numerous services available at the center, including: Outpatient, day treatment, emergency, inpatient, psychiatric, physical and specialized outpatient services for children and family, drug and alcoholic abusers, and the elderly.

English Co-op Assistantship Program

By M.J. O’MALLEY-ALLEN
exponent managing editor

Would-be journalists, this is your opportunity.

UAH announces a graduate level cooperative assistantship in the Department of English which combines academic experience in English with employment in journalism.

Application must be received by Nov. 1, 1982. They should include a completed form showing admission to the Cooperative Education Program and a letter explaining reasons for applying and your expectations regarding your academic plans and career, plus a sample of your writing and three letters of recommendation.

Qualifications for admission to the program include: 1. A bachelor’s degree in English or its equivalent; 2. A “B” average in all courses in the major; 3. Admission to the graduate school; 4. Strong interest in and potential to learn newspaper reporting and editing; experience in relevant course work highly desirable; 5. Acceptance to the UAH Cooperative Education Program (955-8741). Finalists will be interviewed. PLEASE NOTE that admissions to both graduate school and the co-op program are necessary for eligibility.

The co-op appointment and accompanying assistantship mean that the student works at the HUNTSVILLE TIMES and other newspapers in the area for eight months, earning $1500 for two months and $1000 for the remaining six months. The student works two hours a day, plus additional hours during the eight-month period.

The student will complete all requirements for an M.A. in English. The weekly salary during the work segment of $200 per week; during the assistantship, the stipend is $500 per month, with tuition paid in the student’s behalf.

Application should be made to Dr. Carter Martin, Chairman, Department of English and Communications, The University of Alabama in Huntsville, Huntsville, Alabama, 35899.

Questions may be directed to Dr. Martin at 955-6300.

“It really is a fine opportunity for someone to get experience as a journalist, and get a graduate degree in English at the same time,” says Dr. Martin. “Usually, these two things are difficult to get together, yet it is often true that English majors make good journalists.”

Colin Campbell Accepts Dual Appointment

Colin Campbell, Ed.M., M.D., C.M., Dean of the University of Alabama in Huntsville School of Primary Medical Care since August 1978, has accepted a dual appointment as provost and dean of the Northeast Ohio Universities College of Medicine (NEOUCOM) Rootstown, Ohio. The appointment, which is effective Feb. 1, 1980, was announced to the NEOUCOM faculty Sept. 22 by Robert E. Tuchantes, M.D., chairman of the school's board of trustees and chairman of the search steering committees for the new provost and dean.

A native of Washington, D.C., Dr. Campbell received a B.A. degree from Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., his M.D., C.M. degree from McGill University in Montreal, Canada, and his Ed.D. degree from Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa. Before coming to UAH, he was Associate Dean of the University of Michigan Medical School, where he was one of the founders of a six-year B.S./M.D. curriculum.

In addition to his current appointments as Dean and as Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology in the UAH School of Primary Medical Care, Dr. Campbell is also Associate Dean and Director of Medical Affairs at Huntsville in the tri-campus Huntsville in the tri-campus University of Alabama School of Medicine.

"Dr. Campbell has been a superb leader of the School of Primary Medical Care," James A. Pittman, Jr., M.D., Dean of the University of Alabama School of Medicine, commented. "He is an excellent person to work with at every level—easy and pleasant but effective and firm. He is a real doctor, not just a paper-pusher—an actively practicing obstetrician-gynecologist who keeps his board re-certification up-to-date. I think that unless Alabama can provide the funding necessary to support the state's commitment to medical education, it will be increasingly difficult to recruit and to keep physician-educators of Dr. Campbell's caliber."

An acting dean of the School of Primary Medical Care and a search committee for a new dean will be appointed by UAH President Dr. John C. Wright on the recommendation of Dr. Pittman.

According to Dr. Wright, "Dr. Campbell has served the Huntsville medical education program, the community, the region, and the state extremely well. It has been a great pleasure to work with him. His managerial accomplishments within the program, and in its relationships with the university and the community, will help to insure a smooth transition. I foresee no impediments to the continued progress of the UAH medical education component."

In commenting on his new appointment, Dr. Campbell noted, "I'm looking forward to the challenge presented by the NEOUCOM position, but I'm really reluctant to leave Huntsville. I've been very fortunate in working with some outstanding people in my four years in Alabama—especially Dr. Pittman, Dr. Wright, and all those people in the Huntsville medical and business community who have actively supported the School of Primary Medical Care from its inception. I am confident that this support will continue."

"My wife and I have enjoyed Huntsville very much," Dr. Campbell added. "Huntsville has a great future. We hope to live here again some day.

Dr. John Wright, UAH president, was also on hand to christen the new field. In a short pregame address, Dr.
Wright referred to the new facility as "a milestone" in UAH athletics.

The game featured consist-play as regulation time ended with the score tied at 0-0.

The two teams then played two ten minute overtime periods.

UAH and South Alabama remained in a scoreless deadlock until Tom Harlan gave South Alabama a 1-0 lead. Harlan put the visitors overtime period.

Then, with only 3:27 to play in the second overtime, UAH tied the game on a spectacular goal by halfback Louis Ismael after an assist by Edo Akpan.

The game ended 1-1.

Both UAH goalies guarded

Wasserman--Killing Our Own

Harvey Wasserman is against nuclear power and nuclear weapons.

About the only use he admitted is necessary is for medical uses, but said Americans areinxayed far too often.

Yet when it comes to nuclear energy, he said that power plants are much more dangerous than we've been led to believe, and the government is not doing enough to find out the effects of living near a nuclear reactor.

"Ever since the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the United States Government and the atomic energy industry have made themselves blind to the health effects among people and among animals," said Wasserman. "They've been trying to sell a product. They've been trying to convince us that nuclear reactors, like the ones in this area, are safe; when, in fact, they're not safe."

Wasserman said the possibility of a limited nuclear war is a myth, that if there is a nuclear war, it will be far from isolated or limited.

He also talked about the testing of nuclear weapons in the 40's and 50's.

Wasserman stated that three hundred thousand service men were exposed to radiation. Now many of them have serious health problems that they blame on testing.

"The lawsuits are piling up now. Thousands of lawsuits are either on file or in the courts against the government; because of these bomb tests, this is a case of the government saying there's no possible harm; the same thing they're saying about a nuclear waste dump and now we find that, thirty years later, people are literally dropping dead," said Wasserman.

He said there are alternatives to nuclear power, such as solar energy, and that we should concentrate on developing those alternatives.

Boeing Military Airplane Company has made available a minority scholarship to The University of Alabama in Huntsville for the 1983-84 academic year. Richard A. Holloway, AT8 product director of Boeing in Huntsville, presented a $1,000 check to Dr. Richard Griskey, dean of the school of engineering on Sept. 3. Also at the presentation was Frederick Lang, recipient of the scholarship, who is a sophomore majoring in electrical engineering.

Dean Griskey stated that "the interest and generosity of firms such as Boeing are greatly contributing to the growth and excellence of the UAH Engineering Program."

EMT Courses Offered Winter Quarter

Registration begins Oct. 7 for two training courses for emergency medical technicians (EMTs) offered during the 1982-83 winter quarter by the School of Primary Medical Care of the University of Alabama in Huntsville. Both the Emergency Medical Technician-Paramedic course and the Emergency Medical Technician-Basic course will be held in Room 117 in the UAH Clinical Science Center across from Huntsville Hospital.

The EMT-Paramedic course (MED 255) will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays evenings from 6 to 10 p.m. beginning Wednesday, Dec. 1. The course, which is open only to state-licensed EMT-Intermediate, consists of two quarters of three months each, for a total of six semester hours' credit. Class size is limited to 12 participants.

Application: directly to the UAH EMT-Paramedic Program must precede the UAH registration procedure. Please phone 533-5611, Ext. 442, for further information. The first quarter of the EMT-Paramedic course includes 80 hours of classroom training with heavy concentration on drug therapy for life-threatening situations. The second quarter comprises 220 hours of pre-hospital and hospital rotations. These include high cliff rescue, water rescue, and patient care in the emergency room, coronary care unit, labor and delivery suite and the operating room. The students will also work with a licensed EMT-Paramedic on an ambulance in giving advanced cardiac life support.

Emergency medical technicians who successfully complete both classroom and clinical work are eligible to apply for the Alabama EMT-Paramedic license, the highest level of licensure for emergency medical technicians.

The EMT-Basic course (MED 191 and 192) covers basic techniques of pre-hospital stabilization for traumatic injuries, cardiac arrest, and other life-threatening health conditions. The course will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m., beginning Thursday, Dec. 2. The course offers a total of four semester hours credit (three hours for the classroom segment, MED 191, and one hour for the laboratory segment, MED 192). Class size is limited to 10.

Persons interested in this course should register according to the usual UAH early-registration procedure.

Nov. 8 is the UAH application deadline for the winter term. Early registration will take place Oct. 7-30, with regular registration on Nov. 29. For further information about both courses, please call the UAH EMT-Paramedic Program, 533-5611, Ext. 442.

Museum of Art Presents Lecture Series

Sidney Larson, a close personal friend of Thomas Hart Benton, will lecture at the Huntsville Museum of Art, Thursday, Oct. 28, at 2:30 p.m. The lecture is the first of four lectures on American art which complement the museum's exhibition Benton's Bentons. Larson, professor of art at Cleveland College in Missouri, is also a muralist, sculptor, painter, and illustrator. For 25 years, he was a close friend and colleague of Thomas Hart Benton and has recently completed a study and inventory of the Benton drawings which are held in the Benton Trusts.

Three lectures on American art will follow on the succeeding Thursday nights in October. Oct. 14 will feature Dr. Douglas A. Hyland, Director of the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery in Memphis; Oct. 21, Million Estes, Editor and Publisher of Art News; and Oct. 28, Peter Flugman, Chairman and Professor, Department of Art, University of North Carolina.

All lectures will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the museum auditorium, and seating is limited to 125. The series subscription for four lectures is $10 (8 members). Single admission to each lecture is $3 (82.50 members). Tickets may be purchased in advance at the museum. For more information, call 834-4566.

Free Program Guide

The Friends of Public Radio, a support group of WLRH Public Radio, today announced that they have sold a limited edition of their October program guide to anyone requesting one.

According to Margaret Cole, the president of the Friends group, "The free 30-page guide will serve as a reference for WLRH's programming for the month. It gives readers previews of classical, jazz, and folk music programs, local public affairs programs, and programs from National Public Radio.

To get your free copy call 530-9405, or write to: "Free Guide," WLRH Friends, 222 Holmes Avenue, Huntsville, Alabama 35801.

WLRH is located at WPRF on the FM dial, and is licensed to the Alabama Educational Television Commission.
