Obama: ‘No excuse’ jobless rate dips...

President Barack Obama said Tuesday that there’s no reason the jobless rate should have remained as high as 7.2 percent in October, with a release date now for Nov. 8 as statisticians try to make up for a lost half-month of data collection.

The night transitioned from a crazy night. Midnight Madness was underway! The crowd erupted and Midnight Madness was underway! The night kicked off with a Harlem Globetrotters blowout which was hidden beneath. The crowd who were ecstatic all night. Both the women’s and the men’s Alumni had Charger fans for the whole night and squared off against Caleb Yost, Elliot Jones and Josh Magette.

San Jose Mercury News

Apple Inc. on Tuesday debuted two new laptops and a new version of its iPad tablet computer, featuring a high-definition “Retina” display.

The two laptops will be available immediately. The 13-inch and 15-inch models will start at $1,299 and $1,799, respectively, and receive a $200 price cut, starting at $1,099 and $1,499. The two models are powered by Intel’s Core i5 and i7 processors.

Apple’s executive parade, showing off the new desktop computers, included senior vice president of worldwide marketing Schiller, who was named chief financial officer of Apple, and is available for download immediately.

McCleary is one of the presidential candidates who have been selected to participate in the debate. They were selected because of their popularity and representation of the different political views in the country. The debate is scheduled to take place on October 22, 2012, at the University of Denver.

The debate will be moderated by ABC News anchor George Stephanopoulos. The debate will be divided into two main segments: the opening statements and the main debate.

During the opening statements, each candidate will have two minutes to introduce themselves and discuss their platform. The candidates will then have two minutes each to respond to questions from the moderator.

The main debate will consist of four rounds: domestic issues, foreign policy, economic policy, and social issues. Each candidate will have three minutes to present their views on each topic, followed by one minute of rebuttal.

The debate will be broadcast live on ABC News and also streamed online. The debate will be available for later viewing on ABC News’ website and other news outlets.

In the final part of the debate, each candidate will have a chance to summarize their main points and close the discussion. The debate will conclude with a special segment on ABC News, where the moderator will provide a summary of the main points and discuss the impact of the debate on the presidential race.

The debate is expected to be a significant event in the presidential campaign and will provide an opportunity for voters to hear directly from the candidates on a range of issues. The debate is likely to be watched by millions of Americans and will be a key moment in the election process.
UAH men split the weekend
By Sara McMahan

The University of Alabama in Huntsville's men's soccer team split the weekend falling to West Alabama on Friday and bouncing back Sunday against 21 West Florida. The constant unresolved scores did not allow one goal for the right which they chose to net in the final minutes of the game to give UWF the 1-0 advantage. UWF made another offensive attack in the game as Ole Miss Peterman had a shot go just wide of the goal. Then, Kajsa Phillips and Dodad had shots stopped by the UWF goalkeeper.

UAH women get bounce back win

The University of Alabama in Huntsville women's soccer team was unable to secure a victory in two key Gulf South Conference matchups over the weekend. The Chargers faced West Alabama on Friday and No. 6 West Florida on Sunday. The blue and white made several strong advancements as they tied 1-1 for 90 minutes. The contest remained unresolved for the entire first half even though three Chargers fired shots in a 4 minute span in the first 20 minutes of play. Sydnie Fiocca, Nina Jesu, Mandy Dodad had all attempted efforts to help lead the offensive attack. His Gusmarolldi had six saves for the right only allowing one goal for the right which they chose to net in the final minutes of the game to give UWF the 1-0 advantage. UWF made another offensive attack in the game as Ole Miss Peterman had a shot go just wide of the goal. Then, Kajsa Phillips and Dodad had shots stopped by the UWF goalkeeper.

SEC Mayhem
By Derek Williamson

Week 8 of college football provided plenty of surprises in the SEC. Eight teams were ranked coming into the weekend and all but one lost on Saturday. Three of those teams were to unfamiliar opponents. The choices come as the first BCS rankings of the year are released.

The biggest winner of the weekend was No. 14 Missouri, who defeated No. 22 Florida by a score of 28-17. Featuring Florida's quarterback, who was led by Manly Muskat at quarterback, who was forced out of the game because of a touchdown in his first career start and then forced out of his starting position. Missouri moved to 6-1 in SEC this year, losing only a drive in the first half of the East. If the Tigers can't beat West Virginia next weekend, they can still begin planning their trip to Atlanta for the SEC championship.

Mississippi moved to 5-1 in the BCS, while Florida drops out of the top 25. No. 15 Georgia in Nashville for the first time since 1970 against No. 17 unranked reporter on the fourth straight win with leading quarterback Patton Robichaud all the while, beating the Bulldogs: 31-27. Georgia has a 27-14 record at home, with 2/2 left in the SEC quarter. Varsity outside Georgia 37-21 in total yardage led the time of possession: 5:24-24.50, Georgia has dropped out of the top 25, while Varsity remained unraveled.

Tennessee defeated No. 11 South Carolina by a score of 22-21. Michael Taylor's game-winning field goal was set up by a 99-yard punt by Marquez North. South Carolina's hope for a College football specialty was dashed by South Carolina's punt. Corrigan Conner's punt, which left the game with an injury late in the game. The win ends Tennessee's 18-game losing streak against ranked opponents. Tennessee remains unraveled, while South Carolina drops to 21 in the BCS.

No. 24 Auburn traveled to College Station and showed No. 7 Texas A&M. The Tigers defeated the Aggies in a shootout, winning 41-10. Auburn quarterback Nick Marshall completed 18 of 26 passes for 364 yards and two rushing touchdowns. Auburn and Marshall are the highest ranked team in the country, falling to 1-0 against the Aggies.

No one can really describe the Auburn offense. Nick Marshall that makes him so polarizing. The tackles, were not stove against anything. Auburn's junior quarterback thrives under pressure, for one reason or another. Auburn's quarterback 'Marshall' does it, but the junior quarterback doesn't really describe him. Nick Marshall was in less-than-optimum form against Alabama, his signal caller's performance was not at its best.

Ivy's the Soap: She might be High Maintenance

By Ivy Heartson

Although I do not support stereotyping, sometimes it is just a bit fun to be someone of high maintenance. This article is designed to help you see the good side of high maintenance women, and perhaps even learn something about your own humanity. Let's jump right into it.

1.) She feels the need to carry around a small dog everywhere she goes.
2.) She has to get her nails and/or hair done every other week.
3.) She only drinks a certain brand of water.
4.) She only buys designer brand everything.
5.) She makes you buy her clothes even when it is not a holiday.
6.) She makes you buy her clothes for me too.
7.) Everything from her phone case to her room to everywhere she goes.
8.) She only buys designer brand everything.
9.) She idolizes the desperate housewives.
10.) She has not held a job for more than a month.
11.) She has a college degree.
12.) She has to get her nails and/or hair done every two days.

A couple of Brits bring American slavery to light

By Roger Moore

McClellan-Tribune News Service

There's little justice in "10 Years a Slave," and Arvindraj Cumberbatch, playing the role of Solomon Northup, does an admirable job of conveying that. The film's epic scope means that Northup's story is not just a theatrical fabrication, but a real one. It's a tragedy of the highest order, and Cumberbatch delivers a powerful performance that will stay with audiences for years to come.

Cumberbatch's portrayal is a testament to the power of filmmaking. He brings a poignancy to the role that is both heartbreaking and inspiring. His portrayal of Northup is both powerful and tender, and it's easy to see why the role was written for him.

The film is based on the true story of Solomon Northup, a free black man from New York City who was kidnapped in 1841 and sold into slavery in Louisiana. He was kept as a slave for 12 years before being freed in 1853. The film is a powerful reminder of the horrors of slavery and the resilience of the human spirit.

Double Indemnity (1944)

By Megan Roman

American actor Fred MacMurray stars in the role of Walter Neff, a man who schemes with his wife, Mildred (played by Barbara Stanwyck), to kill his employer, Fred MacMurray plays the role of the semi-narcissistic, semi-intellectual Walter Neff.

The film is based on a novel by James M. Cain, and it was directed by Billy Wilder. It's a classic film noir, and it's a great example of the genre. The story is full of twists and turns, and it keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film was nominated for six Academy Awards, including Best Picture, Best Actor (for Fred MacMurray), and Best Actress (for Barbara Stanwyck). It's a classic film that has stood the test of time, and it's still a must-see for anyone who loves film noir.
