Renovations Nearly Completed on Union Building

By Cliff Collier
Exponent Staff Reporter

Renovations on the Student Union Building are continuing with work to be finished in mid-March. Charles Maples, Dean of Students, said the completion day "depends on many factors..." with the new dining area to be ready in about two weeks.

The new dining area will have a movable stage and will also be used for functions such as dances, lectures, films and plays. During these events there will be seating for about 200 persons. "Some of the new furniture (for the dining area) has already arrived and is being stored," Maples said.

The second floor changes have already been completed except for the carpeting and enlarging of the window of the Audio/Visual room from 2 x 2 feet to 4 x 6 feet. Some of the offices like the SOA and Exponent will "move, but haven’t moved yet.

Work on the kitchen area will begin in the last week of February. The serving line will be closed for a period of about two weeks, but hopes are that it will be open in time for the beginning of the Spring Quarter. "The biggest problem is not having a schedule," Dean Maples said. "to let people know in advance." Originally it was hoped that the serving line would be closed for only 2 3 days.

The renovation of the serving line and kitchen will complete the major structural changes in the union building for now. Plans also include a recreation room on the floor which will begin sometime in the near future.

Looking ahead, talks are beginning on a new wing to the Student Union building. This will provide an additional 25,000 square feet of room. But don’t expect the wing anytime soon. This is just a possible long-range addition that the college is looking at.

If all goes as planned, when students return for the Spring quarter, the Union building should have a new face.

Takes Sparks’ Position

Jim Simpson Appointed New Director

Jim Simpson, coordinator of management studies in the Division of Continuing Education at UAH for the past two years, has been named director of development and university relations, effective February 22. He succeeds Dr. Joe Sparks, who resigned to accept a position with Teledyne Brown Engineering Co.

Simpson graduated from the College Business Management Institute at the University of Kentucky in 1976; his Master of Business Administration and Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degrees were earned at the University of Southern Mississippi. Prior to coming to UAH, Simpson was the business manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and an instructor in marketing at USM.

Simpson, who served for two years in the US Army as a second lieutenant, is currently an instructor in the US Army Reserve School in Huntsville. He is chairman of the Business and Industry Division, Region III, for the National University Extension Association, and is a member of a number of business and marketing societies including the American Society of Personnel Administrators, the American Marketing Association, and the National Association of Purchasing Management.

He is on the Education Committee of the Huntsville/Madison County Chamber of Commerce, and is past president of the Huntsville chapter of the University of Southern Mississippi Alumni Association. He is also a past member of the board of directors of the University of Southern Mississippi Hardwood Club.

Dr. John Wright, President of UAH, said of Simpson’s appointment as the university’s new development officer: “I feel we are fortunate to have an individual with Jim’s outstanding abilities and enthusiasm associated with UAH so that we are able to promote from within the university ranks. We are particularly fortunate that he is already so well acquainted with, and respected by, the community in which he will function in this new position.”

'Playboy' Photographer a Fraud

By Michael Burton, Editor

You cannot run a newspaper on the basis of trust. Unfortunately, that's what occurred Friday, February 1, the day of the Exponent's deadline. On that afternoon, I received a call from a man who identified himself as a Playboy photographer and who wished to place an ad in the February 6 issue.

Explaining that he was in Houston and was traveling to colleges around the South to back them up. He further tried to mislead us by saying, "Minute men were not drafted." That was over two hundred years ago and there was not even a constitution in those days.

Again, he writes, "Drafted men fought in Vietnam," as if they were the only ones. There were as many men, drafted and enlisted, fighting side by side in Vietnam, Korea, WW II, WW I, Boxer Rebellion, and the Spanish American war. One only needs to ask a few basic fact-finding questions about each statement in his article to discover what I am saying. If there are any facts at all, they are buried in his rhetorical nonsense.

Our friend further tells us that "men fight for freedom which is not slavery and communism." Freedom is a right that American people have given themselves. They are not foolish and stupid to have a draft, because we can defend ourselves without a draft.

Can we defend ourselves without an army? The strength of American forces is at a stunning low. A volunteer army did not work. No one wants to enlist and no one wants to be drafted!

How is America going to protect her freedom? At the last minute when mushroom shaped clouds fill the sky? Too late. Don't take this precious freedom for granted. They tell themselves freedom will always be there whether there is an army or not. They sit at home in the security of their own selfish thinking that the draft is an unconstitutional act of slavery and communism.

Student Defends Draft

To the Editor:

There is an irrational being among us who has emotionally expressed his dissent of the draft in his article, "Student Argues for Freedom," written for the previous Exponent. There is nothing wrong with supporting a cause in which you believe, but what is the point of supporting a cause with falsehoods.

His article is filled with anti-American statements with not a single fact of support.

For instance, our friend says; by President Carter proposing a draft, "He has manipulated into a crisis so that he can gain dictatorial control over us." Our friend further says "The only reason a draft is instituted in 'Peace' time is to allow the President and Congress to act without permission of the country." His article is full of these accusations with not a fact to back them up.

I further asked him to call some friends of mine where he was going to stay in Huntsville and how he wanted the ad assembled. At first he said he would stay at the Sheraton, and then when he found it was booked up he said he would stay at Howard Johnson's. I contacted the Huntsville Police Department who sent a security who, in turn, contacted the Huntsville Police Department who sent a security investigator to investigate. I discovered from other sources that the man's real name was not on North Memorial Parkway. He would arrive in Huntsville on February 7. Tankersley appeared at his door.

He gave me the rates of each photograph that would be printed in Playboy magazine and insisted that these rates would be only for those photos printed. He also instructed us to use the Playboy logo in the ad.

My main concern was that Tankersley might make an appointment with this advertisement. Some man, who did have a reservation at the motel, I ran the advertisement without having the money in our hands. However, it is standard policy at the university to bill advertisers after their advertisement is run. None of the articles which appeared in the 'Huntsville Times' explained this.

Mr. "Cooper" told the Exponent that we should not print the ad, because he was afraid of the law. The Exponent printed the ad.

Regarding free-lance photographers who want to take photos and submit them to publications, assistant security director at Playboy magazine in Chicago said, "You can free lance all you want, but you cannot mention Playboy or you are affiliated with Playboy."

Rena Karlin of Playboy's photography department said any women interested in modeling for Playboy should send them a collection of photographs of themselves, enough where their figures are noticeable. If Playboy wishes to photograph them for an issue, they would fly them directly to the Chicago. For any women interested, that address is: Playboy Photography Department, Playboy Howard Johnson's and Building, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill 60601.
UAH Students Prefer Carter, Survey Reveals

In a recent poll taken by an Interviewing class at UAH, the majority of males here supported registration of women in the draft and a majority of all those polled favored the renomination and reelection of Jimmy Carter as president.

The survey, taken as a project conducted by Dr. Carol Roach's Interviewing class, polled 143 persons on campus concerning their preferences for president and vice president and their opinions on reinstatement of the draft.

Jimmy Carter was the favorite presidential candidate, receiving 35 percent of the male's vote and 48 percent of the female vote. The poll also showed that 66 percent of the men thought women should be included in registration of the draft, while only 49 percent of the women had registered.

Of those polled, 52 percent were men and 48 percent were women. Seventeen percent of those surveyed at UAH were students, 20 percent were staff and four percent were faculty members.

The largest age group was the 17 to 26-year-old division which held 69 percent of the population. Seventeen percent were in the 27-35 age range and the remaining 14 percent were over 35 years old.

The survey revealed that 78 percent of the men polled were registered voters, while only 64 percent of the women had registered. Fifteen percent of the males chose Ronald Reagan as their second choice for president, followed by Sen. Edward Kennedy with 12 percent and George Bush with 11 percent.

The women had Kennedy and Reagan fighting for second favorite as each candidate garnered 13 percent of the vote. Seventeen percent were undecided.

For vice president, 70 percent of those questioned were undecided or had no preference, many saying they would go with whoever their presidential candidate chose. Vice President Walter Mondale gathered 20 percent of the male vote and 19 percent of the female vote.

No matter what their choices for president were, the subjects named only Carter and Kennedy as the strongest democratic candidates.

Though Bush was not the most popular presidential favorite, he was said to be the leading Republican candidate by 45 percent of the men and 39 percent of the women. Reagan followed with 41 percent and 36 percent. Interestingly, one woman said she felt Carter would be the leading Republican candidate.

Participants in the interview were also asked if they would support a presidential candidate who was in favor of reinstatement of draft registration. Eighty-nine percent of the men and 81 percent of the women indicated they would support such a candidate. Only nine percent of the men and 17 percent of the women said they would not support such a candidate.

On a controversial issue, 96 percent of the men thought women should be registered for the draft, while only 49 percent of the women supported that idea. Reasons given for supporting women in the draft were mostly related to the feminist movement and the groups supporting the Equal Rights Amendment.

Of the thirty-four percent of the men and 64 percent of the women who opposed registration of women in the draft, many stated families, physical and emotional inferiorities as reasons.

Sixty-six percent of the men and 57 percent of the women interviewed supported the draft itself. Twenty-eight percent of the men opposed compared to 35 percent of the women.

Cafeteria Is Changing Look

By Jim Williams
Exponent Staff Reporter

Fried chicken, Salisbury steak, veal parmesian, stuffed peppers-no, these are not items from the menu of a fancy restaurant-they can be found in our own cafeteria.

Eva Chandler, Food Service Director, says that the undeniable upgrade in the offerings of the university's cafeteria is a direct result of the new polices of Auxiliary Services since the change of directors last year.

"We were allowed to perform my duties as Food Service director" she said. "Before the change I couldn't choose the foods-they were put in the freezer, and we had to make the menu from what was there. "We have a three week menu change cycle," she said. "Each cycle must be different. We try to have color coordination in every meal," Chandler said. We want to provide wholesome, nourishing meals. There is always a leafy vegetable either in the hot line, or in the salad bar, if possible.

"If I select the foods we prepare," she said. "We buy the things we need from wholesale companies-we have one place where we buy our meat, another wholesale provides the chicken-all we need is bought on a weekly basis.

"We have two freezers and three refrigerators where we store food for the week," Mrs. Chandler said. "A menu will be put in the new student orientation packs so we can let the students know we do have a food service here," she said.

"We have had students coming here for years who didn't know we had a cafeteria.

"We are trying to be of service to the student. When we finish renovation, I will know more about what further changes we can make. I'm hoping for a better atmosphere for the diners," she said.

"It's so drab here now-I really want to make some changes. We need a change.

"We want to be of better service to the student-this is our goal-our aim," she said.

University Abdicates Pre School Center

The Pre School Learning Center will no longer be operated by the University of Alabama in Huntsville, UAH officials have announced.

UAH President John C. Wright has authorized Dean Maples to accept responsibility for the operation of the Center through May 31, 1980. After that date, the university will not operate a pre school learning center.

"In the time of a difficult budget situation, this wasn't a high priority item," President Wright said.

Dr. Wright said the university cannot continue operating the Pre School Learning Center because "it's running a deficit" and "not enough students are participating in the program.

"It's not closely related to other programs," Dr. Wright said. "The university must safeguard the funds for its primary purpose, which is teaching students."

Dr. Wright did say that if parents "can really come up with a plan for operating the Center, we would let them have the facility this year," but he added that "it isn't the university's responsibility to operate a Pre School Learning Center."

The possibility that a group of individuals interested in continuing the Center could do so under their own organization is recognized by several people.

"Enrollment is hurting now," said Ray McRary, one of the parents at the Pre School Learning Center.

"Dr. Wright has given us a method to keep the thing alive. There is going to be some limited funding, but I'm convinced a number of parents will keep it going," McRary said.

There are about thirty children at the Pre School Learning Center, 25 of which are children of UAH faculty and students.

Summer Courses Set At Oxford College

How would you like a private plane at one of England's most distinguished Oxford Colleges, along with maid service, three meals a day, and a chauffeur for $3.50 per week? Well, now you have the opportunity. For the third year, the University of Alabama is sponsoring a summer term at Oxford University in England. From July 9 through August 8 a series of regular three-hour courses will be offered at Balliol College.

The program will include visits to places such as Stratford-upon-Avon; a literary tour of London; a performance of the Royal Shakespeare Company; the Parliament and Westminster Abbey; and Windsor Castle.

Courses included in the program are: Economics 260, Britain and the Common Market; English 206, British Literature since 1800; English 366, Introduction to Shakespeare; English 400, Elizabethan Revenge Tragedy, and History 248, England since 1888. Credits received under the program will be granted by the University of Alabama and may be transferred to any other university or college.

The program is open to students who are registered at any two-year or four-year institution in the United States. For information about registration, contact Dr. Carolyn White at (205) 615-6112.

Discounts Available

By Stan Smith

Exponent Staff Reporter

UAH students can save a little money on food and recreation if they know where to go.

The SGA has sponsored a program which includes several local businesses. To receive the discount a student must show a current UA I.D.

For you budget-minded beer drinkers, After Dark on Jordan Lane is the place to be on Wednesday night. From 8 to 11 p.m., UAH students are admitted without a cover charge and can enjoy 50 cents beer.

For food discounts, Bonanza will give students their drink free with the purchase of a meal. Captain D's and Stanleio's both offer a 10 percent discount to students.

On the restaurant scene, Len Strickler's Karate School offers students $5 off the regular monthly fee. Pin Palace bowling lanes and Country Club Avenue will charge students 70 cents per game daily until 6 p.m. and after 11 p.m. Parkerway Lanes on Memorial Parkway will give students 10 cents off each game on weekdays.

The University Four Cinema on Independence Drive also gives students a discount. All movies before 5:15 p.m. are $1.50.

Registration Deadline Monday

By Letty Williams for the Exponent

Anyone who has not registered to vote and wants to vote in the upcoming presidential primaries still has a chance.

According to Chairman of the Madison County Board of Registrars, Clarence Nance, the deadline to register to vote is Monday, February 25, 1980. The primary voting is March 11.

The presidential primaries will be held in March, said Sid McDonald, former state senator.

McDonald said he did not think that the voting in the primaries would dictate how people would vote at the National Convention.

"I suspect many people will change their minds by the time the general election is held," said McDonald.

McDonald said he still believes that in the Democratic Primary, President Carter would probably win. But in the Republican Primary, it will probably be a toss-up between Reagan and Bush.

"Reagan is falling and Bush is rising," McDonald said.
Where Does Your Fee Go?

By Stan Smith
Exponent Staff Reporter

Over $139,000 is being spent to try and entertain you this year.

That is the total of UAH student activity fees for the 1979-80 school year. It comes from the $12 fee for full-time students and the $6 fee for part-time students each quarter.

Maybe you haven't seen all the benefits of that money.

First of all, 20 percent of the $139,192 goes to athletics. Of that $27,838.40 figure, $4,454.13 is spent on intramural events. Rowing crew, women's and men's basketball, women's tennis and men's soccer each get $3,540.81 for the year. Cheerleaders and the rugby team are included with a share of $1,131.54 each.

Two percent of the total, or $16,728.00, goes to the Exponent. This figure is broken down into three main expenditures. Some $5,540 goes to salaries; $4,929 goes for printing costs, and $4,900 goes for equipment from last year's giveaway. The other costs go for general expenses such as subscriptions.

Interviewing Firms Are Here This Week

Graduating soon? Technical Computer Service and Sperry-Univac will be on campus this week for interviews.

A firm from Huntsville, Technical Computer Service will be looking for CE, EE and MS students at the BS level. All engineers must have completed three years, with a grade point average of three in mathematics.

Another $4,411.43 will be spent on the Edwards Technical Computer Service, CS, EE and MS level. They are interested in MS candidates as Class II organizations. Class III organizations include the College Bowl, Forensics Team, Frisbee and Gymnastics Clubs. Their part of the budget is $2,850.37.

The Art Series receives $36,010 and the Pre'School Learning Center $2,000. They are considered Class IV along with the musical clubs. These include the Wind Ensemble, UAH Choir, the Village Singers, and the Jazz Ensemble, which each get $460. The total amount allocated to student organizations is $69,000. They are classified as Class II organizations.

Save Money With the SGA Textbook Sale

The chance to make a few dollars and save a few dollars will offer itself once again with the SGA's used textbook sale. At the beginning and end of every quarter, the SGA student services offers students this chance to beat bookstore prices. The sole purpose of this project is to save students money.

The textbook sale will be open to take books on February 27 and 28 from 10-12 am and 1-5 pm. Books will be sold on March 7, and March 10-13 with the same hours.

The policy of the sale is the SGA takes students' books and attempts to sell them at the student's prices. Then a 5 percent handling fee is deducted from books priced over $2 that are sold. Within two weeks of the sale, checks are mailed to the students whose books were sold and notices to those whose books were not sold. Books that did not sell during the allotted time should be picked up within 30 days after the notice has been received. After that time, the books will become SGA property.

The 5 percent handling charge on books sold is to meet advertising and administrative costs.

Guide for MCAT Test Available Now

College students anxious to do their best on the New Medical College Admission Test may have access for the first time to a proven guide for self-study managed.

A Complete Preparation for the New MCAT is a 420-page study guide and workbook that contains complete review materials in the field of human biology, general and organic chemistry, and physics. Special selections are included on development of quantitative and reading skills.

"The best preparation for the new MCAT is a good high school and college preparation," according to the author, James Flowers, M.D. and M.P.H., "but the workbook is designed to help students prepare most effectively to take the exam."

Copies of the workbook can be obtained by sending a check or money order for $14.00 each copy, which includes postag and handling, to: Health Professions Educational Service, Inc., 11801 Goya Drive, Rockville, MD 20854.
Playhouse Holding Auditions March 10 & 11

Auditions for roles in the University Playhouse production of "You Can't Take It With You" will be held Monday and Tuesday, March 10 and 11, at 7:30 p.m. in room B-109 of the UAH Humanities Building.

This goofy, hilarious, and unconventional farce is based upon the antics of the eccentric Sycamore family. Not only has this play been one of the biggest moneymakers in the American theatre, but it has also captured both the Pulitzer Prize and the Academy Award.

"You Can't Take It With You" was written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart and was most recently presented on Broadway in November of 1965. University Playhouse will perform it at the VBCC Playhouse from April 17-20.

Dr. Robert E. James, Assistant Professor of Psychology and Communications at UAH, will direct the play and start rehearsals March 12. Among the UAH productions he has directed are "Fiddler on the Roof," "A Flea in Her Ear," "Godspell," and "The Rimers of Eldritch."

Anyone interested in the technical aspects of the production should also attend auditions and sign up for committee(s) of their choice. People are needed for building and painting the period set, sewing the 1930's costumes, assisting with publicity and collecting the 742 bizarre items required to get the mad Sycamore family of the play through their daily story.

The play has roles open for seven women and twelve men. For more information, contact Dr. James at 890-6191.

'Huntsville's Burning' Concert Date Announced

By Mike Burton, Editor

The "New Wave" is coming to Huntsville. The UAH Entertainment Series is presenting in conjunction with WAAY Radio their first concert for the '80's. "Huntsville's Burning," March 1, at 7:30 pm in Spragins Hall.

The concert will feature three local bands, "The Fones," "Radio Berlin," and "Youth in Asia." All three bands will be doing original material.

Prior to the concert, a feature length motion picture will be presented, at 6, featuring "Blondie," "Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers," and "The Talking Heads."

All lighting for the concert is done by Huntsville's Luna Tech, Inc. Top quality sounds will be provided by Huntsville's sound wizard, Tommy Shepard.

According to Entertainment Series member Mark Ricketts, the title of the concert was derived from a song called "London's Burning," by a band called "the Clash," one of the top bands in England today. According to Ricketts, all three bands have played in North Alabama for years.

"They are three of the top bands in North Alabama," Ricketts said.

Guitarist and composer for "Radio Berlin" described the music as "new wave as opposed to anything else that's going on, particularly around here. It owes a lot to the sixties, and we try to incorporate some new ideas. It's rock-and-roll for the eighties."

Ricketts insisted that the concert will be "New Wave" music—not "punk." "It's going to be a concert that will go back to the basics of good-time rock-and-roll."

The price for the event will be $1 for UAH students and $2 for the general public (in advance). All remaining tickets will be $4.

"Blondie" will be featured in a full length motion picture to be shown at "Huntsville's Burning" March 1 concert.
Ballet ‘Coppelia’ Coming Here

“Coppelia” is a ballet containing all the ingredients to delight audiences both visually and musically, and to titillate the imagination.

The ballet will be performed in its entirety by the highly acclaimed Ballet West company Friday, February 22 at 8:15 pm in the VBCC Concert Hall. The appearance of the Ballet West in Huntsville is under the sponsorship of the University of Alabama in Huntsville Arts Series. It is the second offering of the current “Grand” events season.

The setting—the village square in a small Bavarian town—offers opportunities for colorful costumes and variety in ballet music. Add to the village square setting the workshop of the local toymaker, Dr. Coppelia, who dabbles in magic with his lifelike dolls.

The cast for the fantasy begins to take shape. Add to Dr. Coppelia the young lovers, Swanilda and Franz, and their friends who are not above entering the toy shop after hours and playing tricks.

Tickets for “Coppelia”, $7.50 for reserved seats and $6 for unreserved, are on sale through the VBCC box office and its outlets, and at the UAH Book Nook.

Concert Aired

The Winter Concert by the UAH Wind Ensemble and Choir will be aired at 10 pm Sunday, February 24, in a statewide telecast by the Alabama Public Broadcasting System.

The video-taped program will be shown on Channel 25 (Channel 10 on the cable) in “Alabama Concerts” produced by Hal Beach. The Wind Ensemble is directed by Dr. John Winking and the Choir by Dr. D. Royce Boyer.

The concert at the Von Braun Concert Hall January 24 featured music especially written for winds and voices. The selections were Overture Brilliante, Op. 19, by Burnet Tuthill; Symphony in B-flat by Paul Fauchet; Songs of Abelard by Norman Dello Joio (The Tryst, Praise and Profession, and The Parting); four movements from Celebrations by Vincent Persichetti; There is that in Me, Sing Me the Universal, I Sing the Body Electric, and A Clear Midnight; Sing a New Song (Psalm 96) by Frank Bencivitti; Fauchet; Song of Abelard written for winds and voices by Blimet Tuthill; Symphony.

Concerts Coming at VBCC

Four musical artists will be coming to Huntsville within the next four weeks. Lou Rawls will be here on February 26, the Bill Gaither Trio on March 4, Waylon Jennings on March 8, and Harry Chapin on March 12. Tickets are available now at the VBCC and its outlets.

Fire Destroys New Wave Band’s Equipment at HIC

In what may prove to be the biggest fire ever in Huntsville, the rehearsal hall and all the equipment of the new wave rock band to be featured at the March 1 concert at Spriggs Hall was destroyed by the fire that hit the Huntsville Industrial Center February 19.

Fortunately, the equipment was insured. Mr. Akins said that the band would still play at the ironically named “Huntsville’s Burning” concert.

“We’ve made a commitment and we will do everything in our power to keep that commitment to our fans and the university,” Mr. Akins said.

When asked to comment on the fire, lead singer for “radio berlin,” Jim Finke, said “When we decided to do the concert we were assured a full media coverage but expected nothing like this. The UAH Entertainment Committee is certainly doing its job.”

Finke also indicated that next week’s concert should prove to be at least as hot as this week’s fire.

Chargers End Regular Season

By Paul Tygelaski
Exponent Sports Editor

The University of Alabama in Huntsville, the number one team in the NAIA's national Charger basketball team poll, ended its regular season earlier in the season the last Saturday on a sweet 92-79 in a home game with the Hornets. Most observers readily agreed that the score could have been a lot worse. The Chargers showed how much they have improved in the eight point loss which was closer than the score indicated.

High scorers for the Chargers were James Mundie with 23 points, Ben Mitchell with 16, and Sly Sellers with 14. The Chargers are currently shooting a hot 54 percent from the field and 73 percent from the charity stripe.

The game with Alabama State ended the Chargers' three game winning streak and brought their record to 20-7. The team's three wins included a 103-89 thrashing of Spring Hill February 1 on 81-62 demolition of Stillman on the 12th, and a 113-82 blowout of Spring Hill on the 15th.

The Chargers have gone over the 100-point mark eight times this season. This is also the fifth season in a row the Chargers have won 20 or more games.

Friday night at Spring Hill UAH pulled down an unbelievable 73 rebounds (a school record), and blocked 25 shots.

Also, the Chargers had seven players that scored in double figures and had four players whose rebounds were in double figures.

In Spragins Hall last Wednesday, James Mundie set a Charger record handing out 17 assists. Also on Wednesday, UAH said goodbye to Eddie Horton, Sylvester Sellers and Johnny Horton as they all started in their last regular season home game.

The Chargers' next outing is in the SSC Tournament at Auburn-Montgomery February 20-23. The Chargers are seeded second and will take an 11-3 district mark into the tournament.

Spragins Hall Open During Break

Gary Bell of the Student Life office said that they are attempting to keep the building open more. He said that they hope to avoid odd hours and have everything available to the individual during the upcoming quarters.

Athletic officials are considering charging for guests, but raising the number of guests available. Bell said that the decision to charge for guests has not been approved by the administration.

The gymnasium, weight room, racquetball court, tennis court and swimming pool are available to the students.

Bell said that the basketball courts will be closed on Sundays throughout this month because of intramural basketball games.
The last home game for the Lady Chargers was a very sad moment for seniors Pam Duggan (no. 50); Debbie Shipley (no. 30), and Phyllis White (far right). We’ve enjoyed having these fine ladies at UAH. Best of luck to you all. (Exponent photo by Sparkie Waller)

Frisbee Event Held

Last week two UAH students, Kim Clarke and Jerry Robinson, traveled to the University of South Florida in Tampa to compete in the frisbee event of the Association of College Unions-International (ACUI) regional championships.

Students from colleges in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida met at the USF campus to compete Annie Campagna, both in such events as bowling, billiards, backgammon, chess, table tennis, football and frisbee. The winners of each event go on to the national championship at Georgia Tech in April.

At the frisbee competition last Friday, a prevailing cross-wind caused quite a bit of trouble in the accuracy event. The winners, Paul Williams and Annie Campagna, both from the University of Florida, were the ones most able to cope with the wind. Kim Clarke of UAH came in fourth place in the women’s division and Jerry Robinson finished eighth in the men’s division.

Next year the various clubs at UAH should get together for campus competitions in several ACUI events and send the winners to compete in the regional championships.

Chargers Host Vandy Tonight

The UAH Chargers Hockey team will meet Vanderbilt tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Von Braun Civic Center arena.

Last Saturday, the Chargers destroyed Georgia Tech in Atlanta. The final margin was 10-1 with the Chargers scoring 57 shots on goal. Charger netminder Wayne Zerk allowed only one goal in 18 shots on goal, lowering his goals against average to 3.00.

Seven different Chargers tallied in the 10-1 victory. Tom Perry, Chris Cronehaw and Rob Woody each scored twice while Mike Kenne, Will Hereford, Bill Roberts and David Ragland each scored once.

The Chargers’ win over Tech, coupled with University of Tennessee’s loss over the weekend, clinched the Southern Collegiate Hockey Association Championship for the Chargers.

The Charger 10-1 band is planning to make an appearance at the Vandy gym. Until now, the band had only played at a few vanity basketball games. VBCC director Cliff Wallace made a special request that this rather unique, informal band be established.

The Chargers finish the regular season with games against Georgia State in the VBCC arena February 23 and 24.

The SCHAA Championship Tournament will be held in the VBCC arena Friday, February 29.

Tickets for all home games may be purchased at the VBCC box office, and all UAH students and children under 12 years old are admitted free.

Lady Chargers End Season

By Paul Tyglerleski

The Lady Chargers ended a long season Monday night with a 49-65 loss to the Lady Lions of the University of North Alabama. The Lady Chargers record for the regular season is 3-23 including tournaments while their Division I record is 1-8.

The Lady Chargers were led by Debbie Shipley with 10 points while the rest of the scoring was evenly distributed.

The game was also quite a sentimental event as the Charger fans said goodbye to three fine athletes. Seniors Pam Duggan, Debbie Shipley and Phyllis White all started in their last regular season home game.
Intramurals to Be Offered This Spring

By Paul Tygielski
Exponent Sports Editor

Spring intramurals are just around the corner, and everyone is invited to participate.

The program is sponsored by the Office of Student Life, and something for everyone is the idea behind the program. The program tries to offer those sports which the students request, but there has to be more than minimal interest for a particular sport to be offered.

The OSL is offering three different sports during the spring quarter. Slow pitch softball will start on Sunday afternoons March 23. If the number of teams participating is large enough, then various levels of competition based upon skill will be offered.

Tennis will be offered this spring. Women's singles, men's singles and mixed doubles will be offered in a ladder format on April 12 and 13.

The most interesting sport being offered is swimming, to be held in Spragins Hall Saturday, May 1, from 1 p.m until 6 p.m. The format will be a swimming meet with a four person 400-yard relay, eight individual swimming events, and a mixed diving event.

To aid swimmers in preparation, two lanes in the pool will be reserved for those participating in intramurals. These practice lanes are available only during regular pool hours. Also, there will be a time trial on Saturday, April 12, from 1-4 p.m where swimmers can get an idea of how they are doing.

The OSL will provide trophies for winners in all sports.

Winter Volleyball Teams Compete

By Paul Tygielski
Exponent Sports Editor

The "Independent One" volleyball team won the Division B championship in intramural play last Thursday.

The team took the title with two forfeit wins over Kappa Delta and the Business Club. Kappa Delta and the Business Club will battle for second place on Thursday.

In Division A, the "Foreigners" have already clinched the first place title and a playoff berth with a 4-0 record. On Thursday "ATO" will play "TNT" to determine the other three playoff spots while the Pikes have already forfeited their game with the Baptist Student Union.

The Delta Chis are idle. The Division A championship will be decided Friday and Saturday. Four teams will compete in single elimination playoffs.

Trophies for all winners will be provided by the Office of Student Life, which is in charge of all UAH intramural sports.

Swimming intramurals are to be held Saturday, May 1, in Spragins Hall.

The UAH Rugby Club opened its season on February 18 at Georgia Tech with a 8-12 loss. UAH and Tech each scored two tries apiece.

The difference in the game was that Tech made both its two point conversion kicks while UAH failed to make their kicks.

During the halftime intermission with UAH ahead 8-6, the Barbaric Chargers were taken aback when Tech switched the referee. Tech was responsible for providing the referee for the game and that highly irregular switch turned the match around.

The match was played under inclement weather conditions. The temperature was near freezing and the pitch was under water due to the heavy rains the day before.

Bill Walsh scored the Barbaric Chargers first try while Buddy Lucas and John Peck both made several outstanding plays. UAH started seven players who had never before participated in a match.

The Rugers will play eight more matches this season against such teams as the University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt, and the Scottish Regiment.

The Barbaric Chargers will also be involved in two tournaments—the Mid-South Tournament and the UAH Rugby Club's own Space City Classic.

The Rugby Club is seeking to rebuild itself to the level of ability it had when it won the Space City Classic two years ago. To do this, the club must lose to graduation, transfer, and marriage. Match secretary Mike Burnell said "we are actively seeking new players now and anyone is welcome."

One need not be physically awesome to be a good rugby player. All one needs is to be in good shape and the desire to play. Rugby is not as dangerous a sport as most people think. It simply requires a lot of running.

Club President Howard Stephens said that any athlete desiring to participate in the original game of football should contact any of the (club) officers concerning practice times.

The officers to contact are: Howard Stephens, at 862-5130 or 837-6856; Vice President John Peck at 862-4119, or Treasurer Buddy Lucas at 830-0560.

Men's Tennis Team Formed

An article two issues ago stated that there might be a possibility UAH might obtain a men's tennis team, and any students interested should call Carlos Peterson at 837-1845. Thus far there has been a good response, and a meeting to form a Tennis Club has already been held. Others who missed that article should call Carlos right away.

Student Directories
Now Available

The 1979-80 Student Directory for UAH is currently available free to all UAH students. An SGA student service project which started in July, the directory includes a 1979-80 academic calendar; a map of the UAH campus; dates to all UAH athletic events; listings of SGA-sponsored cultural and film events; student, departmental, and club phone numbers, as well as a listing of emergency phone numbers. The directories can be picked up in the SGA Office of the Student Union building.

Cadet Gets Scholarship

Cadet Ransome L. Berry, a sophomore at UAH was the recipient of a two-year scholarship. Berry is majoring in engineering and takes ROTC through the cross-enrollment program. Cadet Berry will receive a commission in the US Army upon graduation and enter active service as a 2nd lieutenant.

Space Pioneer Visits UAH

Dr. Rudolph Hermann, noted space scientist and Sandy Sherman, UAH history teacher, discuss development of the first supersonic wind tunnel.

On February 12, Ms. Sandy Sherman's History 102 class hosted a very special speaker--Dr. Rudolph Hermann, a German scientist whose work at Peenemunde, Germany greatly aided the development of the United State's V-2 rocket.

In 1936 Dr. Hermann directed a team of scientists in an effort to construct the world's first wind tunnel capable of handling supersonic speeds. The wind tunnel was to be used in the refinement of Germany's newest weapon, a long-range surface-to-surface rocket. The rocket was designed to deliver a one-ton warhead, but it had trouble with stability while in flight. Test flights of the V-2 had proven the necessity of a chamber where models of the rocket could be tested without the use of the rocket itself.

Near the end of World War II, Dr. Hermann moved to the small town of Kochel, Germany, in order to continue his work. However, due to the increasingly unstable condition of Germany at the time when the allies occupied the country, that Hermann and a number of German scientists working with Dr. Werner von Braun came to America under the protection of the United States Army. Once in America, Dr. Hermann began work for the government and as a consultant to private industry in missile and rocket development.

In 1981 Hermann was called from the University of Minnesota by the University of Alabama to be the director of the newly-built Research Institute here at UAH, where he later became a professor Emeritus in astronomy and astrophysics.

Sherman met Dr. Hermann when she attended his class on astronomy. Her decision to invite him as a guest speaker for her history class was an attempt to present students with a piece of "living history."

Dr. Hermann presented a videotape of the NOVA "V-2 at Peenemunde" during the lecture. He also allowed students to look through some of the original works that his team and that of Von Braun's had accomplished while in Germany.

"They (the students) got a chance to actually shake hands with history," Ms. Sherman said.

After the lecture, many students remained to ask questions. The opportunity was rare and the students took advantage of it. After all, how often is it that one can talk to a person whose work helped put a man on the moon?

Medical Assignments Set

The University of Alabama in Huntsville's School of Primary Medical Care has announced senior student assignments for the Community Medicine Preceptorships, February 7-March 5.

Under the supervision of eight physicians in seven north Alabama communities, the students will see patients at the office and hospital, as part of a course requirement in community medicine which emphasizes the broad responsibility of the physician to the community in which he functions.

At the end of the preceptorship period, the students will return to Huntsville to complete the final months of the curriculum prior to receiving their M.D. degrees.

The students, the physicians with whom they will be working, and the communities to which they are assigned are; John Boggs, Dr. Neil Christopher, Guntersville; David Kauf, Dr. Louis Letson, Scottsboro; Don Jones, Dr. Frank Cauthen, Athens; Mike Lowry, Dr. Garland Hall, Moulton; Barry McGahan, Dr. Robert Rhyne, Moulton; Justin Sedlak, Dr. James Cunningham, Russellville; Terry Riley, Dr. Neal Canup, Anniston; Weston Walker, Dr. Eston Norwood, Athens.
Marriage Inhibits Female Professors' Careers

MADISON, WI (CPS)—Marriage, not sexual discrimination, may be the most important inhibitor of female professors' careers, according to research by University of Wisconsin sociologist Gerald Marwell.

Marwell, along with sociologists Seymour Silberman of Columbia and Rachel Rosenfeld of the University of Chicago, tried to discover why there were so few women in top academic positions. They concluded that women "often turn down better offers in other cities rather than disrupt their husband's careers."

"On the other hand," he added, "women tend to move with their husbands when the husbands accept better positions."

Commuter marriages sometimes help both husband and wife get and hold top-level jobs, but Marwell found they don't "always work out."

Eventually, one of them will probably quit his or her job so the couple can be together," he said.

Indeed, a University of Michigan study released last January showed that women college presidents don't usually have much to do with families. Women presidents are much more likely to be single than male college presidents.

Most women college presidents say they get "emotional support" from their colleagues. Most male college presidents cite "family" as their major source of emotional support on their way up the academic ladder.

But Marwell cautioned that "we're not saying discrimination doesn't exist in academia."

"What we're saying is that another reason for the difficulty schools have in recruiting female professors is the geographic limitations marriage places on women."

CJ Banquet Held

The UAH Criminal Justice Club is sponsoring its First Annual Banquet on Thursday, March 27, at 7 pm in the Carriage Inn Ballroom.

Guest speakers for the banquet include Dr. Vernor Fox of Florida State University, Chief Salvatore Vizzini, Huntsville's new police chief, Sheriff Joe Patterson, Mayor Joe Davis and District Attorney Fred Simpson.

UAH President John Wright has been invited to give opening remarks at the banquet. Others invited to attend include Huntsville's City Council members; Madison County judges; Senators Howell Heflin and Donald Stewart; Probation and Parole officers, and UAH faculty and staff.

Dr. Vernor Fox, Ph.D., will give a speech on "The Future of the Criminal Justice System." Dr. Fox is the author of several books, including Introduction to Criminology, Introduction to Corrections, and Community Based Corrections. Dr. Fox is also the founder and former dean of the School of Criminology at Florida State University.

A cash bar will be provided at the banquet at 6:15 pm and dinner at 7. Dress is semi-formal.

Tickets to the banquet are $10 and can be obtained through the UAH Criminal Justice Club or the Political Science Department at 880-8192.

Supplies Should Be Cheaper Now

By Jim Williams

Exponent Staff Reporter

If your organization does not want to save money, don't read any further! Auxiliary Services is changing its policies in its departmental supply store, so that clubs and materials, can acquire supplies rather than going through Purchasing for those supplies they need.

Karen McLeod, director of Auxiliary Services, said that while the supply store is not set up for cash transactions, there should be a substantial reduction in the red tape required to order supplies.

"Supplies should be cheaper at the supply store because of the volume that we buy," she said. "The prices should also be better because of our buying power."

"The amount of the purchase price will be our cost plus the overhead. Our overhead will add about 25 percent above wholesale cost," she said. "Supplies should still be cheaper."

The new policy will be effective March 1 of this school year.

Mona, I've finally decided where I'd like to make my career: State Farm!

State Farm? Great Plowshares! You're going to be a soil tiller. Living an agrarian lifestyle!

Come on now! State Farm is an insurance company.

Virgil, you're going to be a salesman? How could you? Even if they'd have you...

Mona, there's more to insurance than selling policies. Insurance is opportunity. State Farm is looking for people interested in a data processing career. I don't have a computer science degree but I do have six hours of data processing courses. So I qualify!

No way, Mona. State Farm is looking for men and women with any degree and six to nine hours of data processing courses. Of course, you've got to be interested in a data processing career.

Good grief! They're omnivorous.

No, but they're also interested in people in mathematics, accounting, law and actuarial sciences.

Incidentally, the pay is great!

Uh, Virgil, wear a clean pair of jeans to the interview.

To get details on career opportunities for computer programmer analysts and auditors contact your Campus Placement Director or visit the State Farm Recruiter. Our representative will be on campus February 29, 1980.
