

Poïesis: Philosophical Disclosure Through Poetic Reflection

Joel D Catterton Jr, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures / German

Overview

Studying abroad in Germany under the guidance of the German poet Maria Rainer Rilke's emotive poetic phrase "you must change your life" produced a striking vision for students to live, learn, teach, and to contribute to an endless opening of the world.

Explanation

By exploring philosophical disclosure in German, I discovered a new world-perspective and captured it in an original poem focusing on wakeful dreams for all students.

Key Findings

The visual illustration alludes to my intellectual and poetic development that has been fulfilled by the inclusion of a second language.

Impact

Sharing this fascinating experience, I wish to inspire students to collect themselves in the endless depth of human existence in order to change their own lives.

Acknowledgements

Rolf J. Goebel, Ph.D., Professor of German and Chair, Dept. of Foreign Languages and Literatures