Overview

The purpose of this documentary is to explore a day in the life of the homeless in one of Huntsville’s many homeless settlements. This documentary focuses on how this settlement functions, daily life at the camp, and what the people are like. I took candid photographs of the site and its inhabitants as they went about their daily routines. This documentary presents my findings.

Impact

This documentary has the potential to inform Huntsville’s general population about homeless communities’ existence and living conditions, as well as the ability to combat current perceptions and stereotypes regarding the homeless.

Acknowledgements

José Betancourt, Associate Professor of Art, Photography