The purpose of the Huntsville-Madison County Historical Society is to provide an agency for expression among those having a common interest in collecting, preserving, and recording the history of Huntsville and Madison County—an area rich in historically important people and events from early territorial days to modern space ventures. One aim is to encourage increased interest in the history of the community and to help preserve the tangible remains of the area as a cultural center of the old south.

The Society holds four meetings a year, each one featuring a speaker of local or regional note. At the annual meeting each summer (at dues-paying time) the Society sponsors the Frances C. Roberts Lecture, showcasing a speaker and topic of special interest.

Committees within the organization work on a variety of projects. Historic markers have long been one of these, and members are at work selecting sites, designing markers, and refurbishing old ones that have fallen into disrepair. A book containing maps to locate each marker, photographs, complete text of each marker, additional references, and a full index is now available for sale.

The organization publishes a scholarly journal—two issues per year—and your membership dues include a subscription to this publication. If you are interested in becoming a member, clip the coupon, write a check, and send it to us at P. O. Box 666, Huntsville, AL 35804.
