The Huntsville Historical Review Editorial Policy

The Huntsville Historical Review, a biyearly journal sponsored by the Huntsville-Madison County Historical Society, it is the primary voice of the local history movement in northern Alabama. This journal reflects the richness and diversity of Madison County and North Alabama and this editor will endeavor to maintain the policy established by his predecessor with regard to the primary focus of the Review as well as material to be included in it. A casual examination of every community in the world reveals the character of its citizens and, if you listen and look closely, voices from the past and expectations for the future. Today is based upon our collective experience and the socialization of our ancestor's existence.

Although this publication focuses on local history, we cannot forget that what happens here has roots often connected by state, regional, national, and international events. In an effort to build on past traditions and continue the quality of our Review, an editorial policy will be implemented to guide contributors who wish to submit manuscripts, book reviews, or notes of historical significance to our community. The Historical Society wants you to submit articles for publication. Every effort will be made to assist you toward that goal.

This year we begin a three year celebration commemorating 200 years of Alabama history. The Huntsville-Madison County Historical Society is active and leading the state in actions that will make the celebration memorable to all. Your Review is indeed a reflection of our 200 year history and there are so many cataclysmic events that occurred with hundreds of books written from many perspectives but not always from the perspective of our community or the people in the community that lead us through tough times and good times. I urge writers and local historians to share with our community your favorite story, person, or event and help us preserve the knowledge for the next generation.

You can contribute to our history by writing an article for the Huntsville Historical Review.
